Chicago, October 18.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon was a target today for the verbal fire of Governor Smith, who accused the treasury department head with ducking the issue on the question of a reduction in the operating costs of the federal government.

The democratic nominee said that Mr. Mellon in replying to his challenge to republican claims of economy in government had talked about tax reduction, and remained silent on the question of a paring down of federal expenditures.

"Mr. Mellon entirely ducks the issue," he declared. "He leaves that important word out of his statement that he put over the radio and that was a reduction in the cost of government. That was not brought about."

"There is a difference between his speech and his radio speech," he stated. "He stated in his radio speech that the democrats would not give the republicans credit for reducing the expenditures of the government. I said no, because they were not reduced. But in this (Mr. Mellon's statement in reply), he just talks about tax reduction."

The nominee's attack on the secretary was made at a press conference in his suite at the Congress hotel, where he is staying during his two and a half day stopover in Chicago. The governor, who appeared in the best of spirits, puffed away on a cigar as he chatted with the correspondents who were profuse with questions.

He said the treasury secretary also had misrepresented his position in accusing him of ridiculing small economies.

"That is not true," he exclaimed. "I ridiculed the small economies not for the purpose of deriding them. I ridiculed them for the purpose of showing the wanting of so much time of a public official and so much money in the government printing office in printing these small economies, for a purpose, and the purpose was to try and justify the false claim of having reduced the cost of government."

The nominee asked why Mr. Mellon did not cite "us a couple" of big economies.

SEEK TO DECIPHER
NOTES FOUND ON
AMUNDSEN PLANE

Copenhagen, October 18.—(United News).—Officials were attempting tonight to solve a short message written on the salvaged fuel tank of the big French Latham airplane in which Roald Amundsen and five companions were lost while attempting to reach stranded members of the crew of the wrecked polar dirigible Italia.

The fuel tank was docked at Valdemors by the Norwegian motorboat Leif, and it was believed positive identification of the tank had been made.

The message, written in pencil on the tank in letters about two inches high, was apparently obliterated but read:

"Accie . . . grene . . . heuf
aute . . . roit . . . heuf
It was believed the message was written in French. The explorers' five companions were Frenchmen.

After long study the only possible interpretation of the message was something like: "Hurry—waves grinding—hurry." The word "hurry" would be taken to mean "accident" or "hurry." The word "grene" probably meant "green" or "autumn," and "roite" might have been "doit" before partly erased by the waves.

Party "Dodgers" of Peril
of White Supremacy
in South.

BY JOSEPH RUCKER.
Stone Mountain, Ga., October 18.—(Special).—Before an enthusiastic audience that filled the auditorium of the high school here Thursday night, Representative-elect Leslie J. Steele declared that white supremacy in the south "today is undergoing the greatest test in history." The congressman made an ardent plea for loyalty of Georgia democrats to the candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith and bitterly flayed the Dyer anti-lynch bill, which, he declared, the republican party is endeavoring to force upon the south.

Any democrat in the south who deviates from staunch party loyalty in the coming election will be voting for a reduction in the representation in congress of the southern states, he asserted.

Mr. Steele, who earlier in the day had delivered an address at Austell, repeated his defense of Governor Smith's stand on prohibition, asserting that both Governor Cox, of Ohio and John W. Davis—nominees in 1920 and 1924, respectively—both "were as wet as Smith." He pointed out that President Wilson likewise had indicated he favored liberty in regard to the prohibition question and had vetoed the Volstead act.

Vigorously assailing the opposition being brought to bear against Governor Smith because of his religion, the congressman pointed to the fact that nothing is being said of Hoover's faith—the "Quaker church"—which imposed a "pious" obligation upon him. He made a strong plea for religious tolerance and declared that the "Quaker church" is "no cause for not voting for him."

The democratic nominee, Mr. Steele told his audience, if elected, will be in a position to render the south the greatest benefits in the history of the party. This section of the nation, he added, "will throw away its greatest opportunity to gain political recognition if it votes against the democratic ticket in the general election in November."

"I never believed I would see the day," Mr. Steele stated, "when it would be necessary to plead with the people of the south to vote the democratic ticket, at a time when it was most important to vote it."

Turning to farm relief and Muscle Shoals, he declared that if Smith were president he would sign the Muscle Shoals bill. "There will be no farm relief," he said, "just so long as the republican party is in power."

Scores Bolters.
Mr. Steele's remarks received general applause. He was introduced by Scott Candler, mayor of Decatur and chairman of the democratic league of DeKalb county. Mr. Candler pointed out to the voters that the "only" qualifications of a member of the league are to be a democrat." Following Congressman Steele's address, William Schley Howard, former representative and chairman of the fifth district executive committee, spoke.

Mr. Howard also attacked the league of religious tolerance, declaring that "when discriminating on account of religion, you are sowing dragon teeth which will reap a revolution some day," and warned his audience against adopting this attitude in the November election.

Warden of San Quentin
Refuses To Request
Hearing on Sanity and
Prepares Execution.DOOMED SLAYER
IS UNCONCERNEDReceives Letter From
Mother and Plays Opera
Selections in Cell; Dies
at 10 O'Clock.

San Quentin State Prison, Calif., October 18.—(United News).—Warden Ames Holahan, of San Quentin prison, late today refused to seek appointment of a sanity commission for William Edward Hickman and said that he would proceed with preparations for the execution of Hickman at 10 o'clock Friday.

Jerome Walsh and Richard Cantillon, attorneys for Hickman, presented a petition for the commission to the warden.

After studying the petition and an affidavit accompanying it, Holahan informed them he was convinced Hickman is sane and that he would proceed with the hanging.

The attorneys appeared to be disappointed. They, perhaps, had held out some slight hope that Hickman would be saved by some last minute reprieve.

The boy who less than a year ago had styled himself "The Fox" and baffled police of three states for days after committing the cruellest crime in the history of California, was not noticeably disappointed, however. He remained this last evening the calmest man connected with his case.

An iron nerve, apparently strangely soothed by the tunes of a little prison phonograph, sustained the stoicism of William Edward Hickman in his death cell tonight—probably his last on earth.

"The Fox," slayer of Marion Parker, who is scheduled to die on the gallows shortly after 10 a. m. Friday, is said by prison officials to be one of the coolest men who ever occupied the San Quentin death house.

Dr. MacFall, a psychiatrist of the University of Virginia, examined Hickman 14 times while he was a prisoner in Los Angeles and in the San Quentin prison. The affidavit set forth detailed evidence of insanity which the psychiatrist had found in Hickman.

The attorneys said they would petition the warden to ask county authorities to appoint a sanity commission to examine Hickman immediately. Such a procedure was pointed out by Governor C. C. Young as the only legal recourse left to Hickman when the warden declines a clemency petition earlier in the week.

Warden Is adamant.
The warden conferred with members of the California state prison board, who met here Wednesday, and indicated that such a petition, if presented, would not be acted on.

With every appeal for clemency denied, "The Fox," who kidnaped little Marion from a Los Angeles schoolhouse for ransom and hacked her to pieces when he feared capture, resigned to his fate and has chosen music and religion for solace in his last hours.

His request for the phonograph, Warden Holahan said, was one of the strangest ever made by a man in the death cell.

Hickman's former companions in condemned row offered no objections to his request and willingly relinquished their phonograph. A was brought to the death cell and placed in Hickman's hands.

Tragedy Seen
In 'Phone Call
For Police AidConnection Is Broken Before Woman Is Able To Give Her Address.

Police late Thursday night were investigating what they believed might be a tragedy after a woman's telephone call for aid was abruptly ended by a sound, indicating that she had been struck down at the telephone.

According to Call Officer C. C. Harper, the call came to headquarters at about 9 o'clock and when he answered a woman, in a low but agitated tone of voice, stated that a burglar was in her house. Just as she started to give the address Officer Harper said that there was a sound as of someone being struck on the head by a hard instrument and that this was followed by a thud as of a heavy body falling, immediately after which the connection was broken.

An effort to check the call back through the telephone offices proved futile and, left with no means of locating the source of the appeal officers were forced to content themselves with watching the hospitals and waiting for emergency summons.

With election of new officers set for this afternoon, and the annual banquet to be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the Biltmore hotel, the Interstate Post-Graduate Medical Association of North America, which has been in session at the auditorium all week, will come to a close.

Many of the delegates and their wives, however, will remain in Atlanta to attend a barbecue to be given on at Boulder Crest estate Saturday by the Fulton County Medical society.

Others will leave the city early Saturday morning for a post-assembly tour of Florida and Cuba, which has been arranged in order that the doctors and surgeons here from all parts of the world, may not leave this section of the country without seeing its many beauties of semi-tropical and tropical nature.

Clinics on Schedule.
The morning and afternoon sessions at the auditorium today will be devoted, from 7 a. m. on, to diagnostic clinics and papers on various technical subjects as has been the rule all week.

Outstanding among the famous surgeons who will address the assembly this morning is Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of the Mayo clinic, Rochester, Minn., who will deliver a paper on "Cause and Treatment of Peptic Ulcer."

Dr. Mayo also will speak at the banquet tonight, as well as Dr. George W. Crile, professor emeritus of surgery, Western Reserve university school of medicine, of Cleveland; Dr. Lewiselly F. Baker, president of the association, and professor emeritus of medicine at Johns Hopkins, Baltimore; and several of the world famous men who are here from England, France, Switzerland, Ireland and other foreign countries.

Governor L. G. Hardman, himself a doctor, will be another speaker at the banquet.

The election of a new president of the association this afternoon is merely a formality, inasmuch as it is the custom of the body to name its president-elect one year in advance.

Dr. John B. Deaver, emeritus professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, will be elected president.

Gutzon Borglum Named
To Carve Wilson Statue

Gutzon Borglum, noted sculptor who began the carving of colossal figures composing the Stone Mountain Confederate memorial, will execute a heroic figure of Woodrow Wilson for the republic of Poland, it developed here Thursday with the rapidity that only modern means of quick communication make possible.

Visiting Atlanta for a day Thursday, Mr. Borglum was notified by Mrs. Frank Mason, well known Atlanta woman and a close friend for years, that Mrs. Borglum had wired her news of the fact that Ignace Paderevski had tendered to Mr. Borglum the commission to execute the statue of the war president.

"Have received a six-page letter from Paderevski stating he wants statue of Wilson for Poland by the greatest living sculptor in the world—Gutzon Borglum," her wire to Mrs. Mason stated. "It must be done in 1929. Find Mr. Borglum and notify him."

Mr. Borglum was located by Mrs. Mason and advised of the Paderevski letter. In the course of an hour he had cabled the former Polish president and world famous pianist that he would accept the task.

Mr. Borglum, who has many friends here, passed through Atlanta from Raleigh, N. C., to Florida. His great battle group designed as North Carolina's tribute to her hero dead who charges with Pickett at Gettysburg now is being finished, having met with hearty approval of the committee in charge of the work Tuesday.

The sculptor also is making a monument for Florida.

The North Carolina group, which will be unveiled at Gettysburg next May, is composed of figures of North Carolina soldiers 11 feet in height and heroic in every proportion.

AIR MAIL PLANE
IS LONG OVERDUE
IN MID-WEST RUNWilliam Hopson, Veteran
Pilot, Thought To Have
Crashed in Ohio on Way
West.

Cleveland, Ohio, October 18.—(AP)—Long overdue with the night mail from New York, William C. ("Wild Bill") Hopson, veteran pilot and world war veteran, was missing tonight and fears were felt for his safety.

Three planes were sent out by the National Air Transport company, on whose New York-Chicago air mail-line Hopson was a pilot. More than seven hours' search, however, failed to result in any trace of the missing flier. He was last reported at Clarion, Pa., at 1:05 a. m. today, flying nearly on schedule. He was due at the Cleveland airport at 3 a. m. Fears that he had fallen victim to unfavorable weather in the mountainous district of Pennsylvania, long one of the most dangerous hazards of trans-continental fliers, were allayed with the Clarion report.

Hopson, who once was forced down in Pennsylvania, also was reported to have passed Bellefonte, Pa., safely after taking off from Hadley Field, N. J., at 9:40 p. m. last night.

He was a veteran of eight years' flying experience. One of his feats was to wake villagers of Warrensville Heights, Cleveland suburb, while making a night run in order to rouse them in time to prevent a serious loss by fire.

SUPERINTENDENT FAILS
IN 6-HOUR SEARCH.
Clarion, Pa., October 18.—(AP)—W. L. Smith, superintendent of the air mail route between Cleveland and New York, spent five hours in the air in this vicinity this afternoon searching for flier William C. Hopson, missing since early this morning, but was unable to find trace of the flier.

Smith flew from Cleveland to Clarion this afternoon with two other aviators flying mail planes. No sign of the missing ship was found on this trip. The mail planes continued to New York while Smith turned back and scoured the territory as far west as the Allegheny river and for a distance to the north, all of which area is wooded.

The country beyond the Allegheny river toward Cleveland is open country, the superintendent pointed out, and said that if Hopson had come down in that district he would likely have been found by this time. He said his search to the north covered a "reasonable distance."

Smith declared there was a possibility that Hopson lost his course and was forced down in Lake Erie.

SEN. CARTER GLASS
TO TRAIL B O R A H
ON SPEAKING TOUR

Richmond, Va., October 18.—(AP)—United States Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, will take the political speaking trail of Senator Borah, of Idaho, Murray Hooker, chairman of the Virginia state democratic committee, announced here today following receipt of this information from Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland, chairman of the national democratic committee's speakers' bureau.

Tentative plans call for addresses by Senator Glass at Charlotte, N. C., October 20; at Chattanooga, Tenn., October 30; and at Louisville, Ky., October 31.

The Virginia senator will have the same radio hook-up as Senator Borah, Mr. Hooker said.

Local Negro Is Victim
Of One of Rarest IllsNarcolepsy. A disease so rare that there are only 45 recorded cases in the history of medicine.

ONLY 45 CASES OF NARCOLEPSY ON RECORD

Narcolepsy. A disease so rare that there are only 45 recorded cases in the history of medicine. Yet, rare as it is, a typical case of the dread malady was shown on the stage of the auditorium Thursday night, before 2,000 of the doctors attending the International Medical assembly.

The colored man, victim of this peculiar and rare malady, is the forty-fifth known case. The forty-fourth was described by Dr. George E. Nesbitt, professor of medicine of the Royal College of Surgeons of Dublin, Ireland, in his paper on rare diseases.

Victims of narcolepsy are subject to sudden loss of all muscular control. This, of course, means that when attacked they fall wherever they may be. Any sudden slight emotional shock is sufficient to bring on an attack, such as a shout, laughter, an emotional reaction to a movie, or music or the sudden pleasure of seeing a dress or other article which they would like to own.

The local negro, presented to the doctors by Dr. E. C. Thrash, of Atlanta, has been unable to work for ten years, since he first contracted the disease. He is apt to fall helpless to the ground at any moment. It is self-evident that no employer cares to have him working.

The negro vividly explained the danger when he told the audience, in response to Dr. Thrash's questioning, that he had had an attack while holding a 12-pound hammer when he was on a scaffold.

"You dropped the hammer?" asked Dr. Thrash.

"No sir! It jes' got a loose," the patient answered.

A peculiarity of the condition is that the sufferer, though unable to move or speak, is fully aware of all that is going on around him at the time. The negro described how he had heard the frantic alarm and witnessed the desperate attempts to help him by his wife when he was snatched, but said he could not speak to her or communicate in any way.

"You do not move at all?" asked Dr. Thrash.

"Yes sir, I moves. But not the way I wants," he explained.

The attacks of narcolepsy last only a few minutes at a time, but may occur a number of times a day. The case at the auditorium Thursday night explained that he rarely went a day without an attack, and then only when everything was quiet and peaceful around him.

"If I gets with a noisy crowd, with laughin' and jokes agoin' on," he said, "I jes' flops an' flops until I gits hurt. Then I lies down for the res' of the day."

A second symptom of the disease is an abnormal desire for sleep. Dr. Thrash explained that it was almost impossible for this negro to keep awake for more than two or three hours at a time. In fact, before he left the stage, he was nodding repeatedly and was almost asleep on his feet.

The tragedy of this case, Dr. Thrash pointed out, is that the cause of the negro's malady almost was certainly acquired while he was a soldier during the world war, yet because his disease is so little known and is so generally unrecognized by doctors, he has been unable to secure any disability compensation from the government. Nevertheless, the disability is so serious that the man is utterly unable to work.

The man has spent ten years in government hospitals and has been discharged from each one with the farewell from the physician in charge of "Oh, you'll be all right," according to his own explanation.

Asked how many hospitals he had been in, he explained.

"I've been in all 'cept SS. I would not go there 'cause a fren' of mine told me."

CROYDON FLARES
LIGHT EMPTY SKY
THROUGH NIGHTNo Word of MacDonald
Since Steamer Saw Him
700 Miles Out Forecasts
Tragedy.WIFE STILL HOPES
HE WILL ARRIVEPilot of Tiniest Plane
Has Been Down Somewhere
Since Thursday
Morning, Say Builders.

London, October 19.—(AP)—Flares burned last night at Croydon air-drome with the slim hope that Lieutenant Commander H. C. MacDonald, who started at noon yesterday on a trans-Atlantic flight venture from Harbor Grace, N. F., might in some fashion have escaped the mysterious fate of other such fliers and complete his trip.

The chances were small, however, that the flares would be needed. At 8:35 a. m. (3:35 eastern standard time) there had been no word here of the young aviator since his sighting by the Dutch steamship Hardenberg, 700 miles east and north of Harbor Grace, shortly after midnight Wednesday night. At this hour MacDonald was almost 39 hours out of Harbor Grace. It should have taken him not more than 20 hours to reach Ireland had his flight been successful, or about 24 hours to reach Croydon.

Croydon officials, though they had not lost hope, were decidedly pessimistic as to the aviator's fate. Among the possibilities mentioned is one that he may have been blown far out of his course and forced to alight on some remote island on the west coast of Scotland. There is a chance, too, that in a possible alighting at sea he may have picked a spot near a passing steamer, but not equipped with wireless.

Few, however, believed that his fuel supply could not have become exhausted.

The silence in which the audacious attempt of MacDonald—in a little Moth plane with a wingspread of only 26 feet—has been shrouded since his departure has been broken only by a message which has brought more of thrill than of hope.

The Dutch steamship Hardenberg, bound for Antwerp and about 700 miles east of St. Johns, reported to the Associated Press sighting an airplane which passed its position half an hour after midnight London time, or 7:30 p. m. eastern standard time last night.

The MacDonald plane had hopped off from Harbor Grace at 11:51 yesterday morning and the plane reported by the Hardenberg undoubtedly was the lone British flier. The message records its progress for nearly eight hours, but leaves a vast abyss of space and time which imagination and speculation are left to explain as hopefully as they may.

The message read:

"Airplane passed steamer Hardenberg latitude 53.29 north, longitude 11.51 west."

TO INSURGENTS KILLED DISTRICT ATTORNEY IN MEXICAN OUTBREAK CLOSES NIGHT CLUB

Band of 180 Rebels Overtaken by Lagna Federal Troops.

Mexico City, October 18.—(AP)—Fierce hand-to-hand fighting between insurgents and government troops was cronicled today in Mexico City newspapers.

A dispatch from Queretaro said that ten insurgents were killed when a band of 180 was overtaken by Laguna federal troops under Colonel Baltazar Leyva. One soldier was killed and eight wounded.

The troops had been pursuing the band since an attack on the town of Colon and when the soldiers approached the insurgents withdrew to a hill and entrenched themselves behind an adobe wall.

For five hours a furious battle raged and then Colonel Leyva personally led his men in storming the insurgent position. Desperate hand-to-hand fighting took place. The band was ejected from the entrenched position and fled, abandoning ten dead and carrying wounded away.

As the insurgents continued in flight across the country another military column encountered them and six more of the band were killed.

Disputes from Guadalajara said that an insurgent band commanded by Victoriano Ramirez had been severely punished by troops commanded by General Miguel Martinez, who reported from Tepic that the band had been dispersed after a brief engagement at La Mesa de San Juan.

Ramirez has been reported on several occasions and the dispatch said he participated in an attack several months ago on a Guadalajara passenger train when the military escort was butchered and many passengers killed and injured.

Chamberlin Visits Scene of Landing In Historic Flight

Kottbus, Germany, October 18.—(AP)—Clarence D. Chamberlin today had a long-awaited opportunity to show his wife the scene of his historic landing in June, 1927, after his successful flight over the ocean in the monoplane Columbia.

In response to an invitation by the city of Kottbus, Chamberlin with Mrs. Chamberlin, Thea Rasche and Four Men, Four Women Arrested; 100 Patrons Ordered Out.

New York, October 18.—(AP)—Four men and four women were arrested early today in a police raid on a night club in Fifty-third street, the first made since Maurice Campbell, prohibition administrator for this district, pointed out to District Attorney Joseph B. Easton how city officials might aid in closing objectionable places.

The raid was made by four city detectives. The women were charged with disorderly conduct, the men with possession and sale of liquor. About 100 men and women patrons were ordered to the street by the police and a guard was placed at the door.

In his letter to the district attorney, Mr. Campbell said that if Mr. Easton was sincere in his desire to close night clubs he had a weapon at his disposal. The weapon, Mr. Campbell said, was contained in section 22 of the national prohibition act, which says: "An action to enforce a nuisance defined in this title may be brought in the name of the United States by . . . any prosecuting attorney of any state or any subdivision thereof."

In commenting on a recent case he had under investigation, where an actress who later died, was reported to have been beaten in a night club, Mr. Easton said the night clubs were the hangouts of criminals. Mr. Campbell said he concurred with this view and that an exchange of evidence between himself and Mr. Easton might prove profitable to both. He offered similar aid to Mayor Walker a year ago but had received no response to his letter.

The district attorney's only comment on the letter was that "Mr. Campbell should put the matter up to Mabel, his boss."

Major George E. A. Reinburg, American air attaché, flew to Kottbus and arrived there shortly before noon. The party were enthusiastically greeted by city officials and by cheering crowds.

The first official function was a visit to the foundation stone of a monument being erected to commemorate the landing of the "America." The party was then driven in open cars through the city and the people of Kottbus, who have a deep attachment for Chamberlin and regard him as a fellow citizen, gave him an enthusiastic reception wherever he appeared.

Doctors' Meeting Featured By Their Oneness of Thought

DELEGATES TALK MEDICINE DAY AND NIGHT

BY RALPH T. JONES.
Doctors are the most self-centered class in the world. They are more wrapped up in their own profession than any other group. They live, eat and sleep with medicine or surgery ever on their minds and they devote every atom of thought, ability and energy to their business.

That is the impression received after a week spent at the auditorium listening to the clinical addresses of the International Medical association and mingling among the three or four thousand doctors who were there as delegates.

When a convention of plumeers in session they may talk about elbow joints and left hand threads in their public sessions. But in their more private personal conversation they talk most anything under the sun, including the use of the better class automobiles, the respective merits of golf balls and the cost of maintaining a private yacht.

Music Lovers Talk Clothes.

When music lovers gather at the auditorium for the annual week's orgy of Metropolitan opera, while the more conversational aura may contain a lot of pizzicatos and vocal wisecracks, most all the men talk about the interest rate or the quality of the last case they got from Bill. The women talk clothes, as customary.

Florists, in convention gathered, talk football and current fiction, as well as bulbs and fertilizer.

And so on and so forth, with almost every other group of similar interest. But not the doctors—

Edge up to a group of three or four delegates to this international assembly, as they gossip during the intermission. What are they talking about?

Topics of Conversation.
Diagnosis and treatment. Diverticulosis and diverticulitis. Gastric ulcers and tumors of the duodenum. Intestinal proctitis and polyomyelitis. Phrenico-exostosis and thoracoplasty in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis. Auricular fibrillation in toxic goiter. Echinococcus cysts of the liver. Cardiomyopathy for chronic mediastinopericarditis.

Hardly a mention of politics or Babe Ruth's batting average.

Of course, you can readily see how fascinating the conversation is, from reading the next to last paragraph above once again—if you can stand it. But there is no conversation with such singleness of purpose, such oneness of thought, except—

A political convocation.

SEARCH FOR IDEAL HUBBY IS ENDED AS COIN VANISHES

Nashville, Tenn., October 18.—(AP)—Miss Helen Davis, of Washington, who started on a cross-country hunt for the "ideal husband," was the object of detective search here today and her two companions, giving the names of Mrs. Howe and Mrs. Frederick, were bemoaning the loss of $200 each, which they claimed they had paid Miss Davis as transportation to California.

The two young women, who refused to give their real names, told police they had answered an advertisement in a Washington newspaper which offered two women transportation in Miss Davis' car in exchange for $200. Three days out from Washington, Miss Davis showed them clippings of a story which termed their expedition "America's first matrimonial car-pool." They had known nothing of this project, they said.

CAVE MAN TURNS ANGER TO LOVE BY ROUGH TACTICS

Kansas City, Kansas, October 18.—(AP)—Turning cave man, Fred Obynik, 27, today kidnapped the sweetheart who had refused to see him after a quarrel and made her his bride.

Miss Ruby Crockett, 27, capitulated to Obynik's brand of love making and married him a few hours after she had eloped with Obynik, stopped William Krausland, 31, who was driving Miss Crockett to work, threatened him with a jack handle and drove away with the young woman.

The couple returned home to find police awaiting Obynik. Instead of occupying a jail cell for his nuptials, the man, who has a record, will entertain William McMullan, police chief, at a wedding party.

is thus slated for the presidency. Who will be named as the new president-elect is of course still the secret of the nominating committee, which is headed by Dr. C. B. Roberts, of Atlanta, as chairman.

A vivid description of the manner in which experimental cirrhosis of the liver is produced in dogs, in exact duplication of the same disease in humans, was given the assembly Thursday afternoon in a diagnostic clinic and address conducted by Dr. J. L. Bollman and Dr. A. M. Snell, of the Mayo clinic. It was shown that a strictly carbohydrate diet was of utmost importance in this disease, dogs fed nothing but milk, syrup and bread living from four to ten times as long as similar animals fed a mixed diet.

Liver's Performance.
The remarkable ability of the liver to perform all its functions even though greatly reduced was stressed by Dr. Bollman, who said dogs in which as much as nine-tenths of the liver had been moved by operation had continued to enjoy perfect health.

He showed, also, how the liver quickly restores itself, a dog from which more than the original amount of the liver had been removed in a series of operations growing a complete new liver even larger than the original.

Dr. Stewart R. Roberts, of Atlanta, professor of clinical medicine at Emory university, delivered one of the outstanding papers of Thursday, telling as his subject "Pellagra of Today."

Dr. Roberts based his study of the disease and his statistics of cases almost entirely upon Georgia and the several thousand attending doctors expressed intense interest in this report on a disease which is still, in many respects, mysterious as to its origin and treatment.

Speakers Thursday.
Other speakers at the Thursday sessions included Farquhar Macrae, F. R. C. S., of London; Dr. Kenneth M. Johnston, of Charleston, S. C.; Dr. A. Hamann, of Cleveland; Dr. Frank H. Lahey, of Boston; Dr. L. Webster, of Philadelphia; Dr. Charles H. Frazier, of Philadelphia; Dr. Howard C. Naffziger, of San Francisco; Dr. Walter E. Dandy, of Baltimore; Dr. Otto F. Levin, F. R. C. P., of London, and Dr. Jack Witherspoon, of Nashville.

Diagnostic clinics were conducted Thursday morning by Dr. Lester, Mr. Macrae, Dr. Elliott, Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan, of Chicago, and Dr. Frazier. Subjects discussed Thursday centered around diseases of the gall bladder and liver and diseases of the brain and central nervous system.

Dr. Fox, professor of ophthalmology, of the University of Pennsylvania Graduate School of Medicine, of Philadelphia, delivered a masterful paper on "Glaucoma." Dr. Frazier, of Philadelphia, delivered a paper on "The Joseph Schneider Foundation presentation."

SIX BANKERS INJURED WHEN PLANE CRASHES

Victims Took Flight Over Atlantic City Where They Attended Convention.

Atlantic City, N. J., October 18.—(AP)—A Junkers all-metal airplane, carrying as passengers six members of the Investment Bankers association in attendance at their convention here, crashed late this afternoon on the meadows back of the city and resulted in serious injury to six of the occupants.

A railroad freight train was commandeered to bring the men to the station here where ambulances conveyed them to the hospital. The only conscious man was Alden H. Little, of Chicago, executive vice president of the American Bankers association.

The plane, sister ship of the transatlantic Bremen, was piloted by George King, of Curtiss Field, N. Y. Mr. Little said that with his associates he had gone on a flight to view the resort from the air and after flying about over the city, the plane suddenly went into a nose dive, crashing to the ground. Because of the inaccessibility of the spot where it crashed aid was delayed reaching the men. The plane was wrecked, its nose buried in the ground.

Those injured were: Thomas M. Dysart, of Knight, Dysart and Gamble, of St. Louis, one of the backers of Colonel Lindbergh's transatlantic flight, fractured right rib and shock. Alden H. Little, executive vice president, Western Bankers of Chicago, shock.

W. O. Chanute, of Bosworth, Chanute and Louchbridge, Denver, Colo., possible fractured skull, compound fracture of right leg and shock; condition poor.

Henry Clay Duer, of W. W. Latham & Co., Baltimore, shock and minor injuries. Ferdinand Ehle, of Pleasantville, N. J., a relief pilot of the Crescent company at Badger field, possible fracture right leg and shock.

Pilot George King, Garden City, Long Island, possible fracture right leg and shock.

THE MEAT DISH

--has become a real problem

The stock-raiser and meat-producers general, are in the saddle now. They are receiving better prices for cattle, hogs, sheep, goats, chickens, etc., than they were last year. We are glad of this condition (for the stock-man), just as we are glad of any man's bettered condition, but the new state of affairs brings up a new problem for the housewife. . . . increased prices for meats.

However, foresighted housekeepers will find little trouble in supplying the table with foods which are equally satisfying . . . wholesome, appetizing and nourishing, by substituting fish, cheese and similar foods.

Judge Samuel B. Adams Makes Party Loyalty Plea In Address at Savannah

Plays Tactics Adopted by
G. O. P. Nominees and
Defends Candidacy of
Governor Al Smith.

Savannah, Ga., October 18.—(Special.)—In a stirring address here today, Judge Samuel B. Adams, democratic elector from the first Georgia district made an ardent plea for loyalty in the ranks of party members in Georgia in the coming presidential election.

Judge Adams played the tactics being adopted by the republican nominees and defended the candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith. He spoke as follows:

"Fellow democrats and fellow Georgians: Those of us who are daring to support the nominees of our party exhibit great tenacity, not the savagery of many of the inflamed and inflammatory opponents of the democratic nominee for president paint him as the representative of wickedness and predict in lurid language the direful consequences of his election, should this calamity be visited upon our afflicted country.

"Recently a meeting was called in Savannah in support of the republican ticket under the auspices of the good ladies of the W. C. T. U. They gave as a reason for their call that they did not wish their sons to be drunkards, gamblers or libertines. The implications with reference to the supporters of the democratic ticket were very pleasant and flattering.

"A prominent clerical supporter of the ticket called attention to the sharp opposition between the Robinson meeting and his meeting, and announced a 'cleavage line,' on one side of which is 'the mass of moral and religious leadership of the people.' The report is not clear as to how he characterized those of us who are on the wrong side of the cleavage line, but the implication is sufficiently plain. According to the public prints he would regard it as a supreme calamity if Governor Smith were elected, because of the things that stand for him, as a man who stands for immorality stands for Smith."

"Rabid 'Sisters.' In a union meeting held recently in Waycross, as I learn from a gentleman who was present and who in protest against the remarks, left the church, a religious (Heaven save the mark!) leader of a religious meeting asserted that Smith was so full of whisky that if you punched a hole in him enough liquor would escape to drown every man, woman and child in the United States. Should some rattle-brain sister, mentally unbalanced by the lurid charges against Catholics and against Smith in particular, spread through the country by

Smith all the prospective emoluments of the sheriff's office as a consideration for his continuing to represent a local assembly at Albany. In the past 10 years there has been no republican, progressive or democratic in the state legislature who has rendered as effective, useful, downright valuable service to the town as ex-Speaker Smith.'

COUNCIL MEMBERS OPPOSE ACCIDENT REPORTS BY GRADY

Declaring hospitals are not detective bureaus, Councilman Raleigh Drennon, of the ninth ward, who is vice chairman of the hospitals and charities committee of city council, Thursday stated that while Grady hospital is willing to cooperate in any possible way with the Atlanta police department, he feels that the police themselves should make investigations of traffic accidents without insisting on formal reports from Grady.

Chief of Police James L. Beavers Thursday issued a statement favoring filing of reports with the police. His suggestion would have made it mandatory on hospital authorities to make reports to police in all cases of traffic accidents.

Alderman William B. Hartsfield, of the third ward, also scored the suggestion as impracticable on the theory that it would cause endless litigation by giving unethical attorneys access to all reports.

RITCHIE ATTACKS SMITH FOES WHO STRESS TAMMANY

Stamford, Conn., October 18.—(AP) Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, speaking at a democratic mass meeting here tonight, declared that "Tammany hall no more dominates Alfred E. Smith than I do."

"If there is any dominating," he added, "Smith dominates Tammany." Answering what he termed "this anti-Tammany stuff," Governor Ritchie asserted that to say Governor Smith would not make a good president because he is a member of Tammany hall would be the equivalent of saying that no democrat from the city of New York could be eligible for president, "because there are few New York city democrats who are active party men who do not belong to Tammany."

"Tammany," he said, "is simply the historic name of the democratic party organization in Manhattan. It has had its black sheep and its black and white days, as every party organization has had in every state, city and county of the union. It would be just as reasonable to hold Governor Coolidge responsible for the notorious scandals of Grant's day, as to hold Smith responsible for the intrigues of Tweed or Croker."

Governor Ritchie described as "an effrontery" any attack on Tammany "from a party which relies for its life and sustenance on the Vane machine in Philadelphia, the Mellon-Magee machine in Pittsburgh, the Crowe-Thompson machine in Chicago, the old Cox machine in Cincinnati, the Watson state machine in Indiana, and the Small state machine in Illinois."

HIGHWAY BOARD MEETS

Members Hear Emanuel County Delegation.

Several minor highway department matters comprised the only business transacted by the state highway board at a short meeting Thursday morning at the capital, it was announced by John N. Holder, chairman. Mr. Holder said that the state supreme court decision on the highway mileage limit was not discussed by the board, as a motion for a rehearing of the case has been filed by the attorneys.

A delegation of commissioners from Emanuel county appeared before the board with reference to the location of the Swainsboro-Dublin road under a survey recently made by the highway department. This road matter is now in court, as a number of people dissatisfied with the proposed location have asked for an injunction against the board, Mr. Holder said.

The program for road paving next year was discussed with a delegation from Cherokee county. Chairman Holder said, and the request for an allotment filed for future consideration. Another matter occupying the attention of the board was a claim for damages to an automobile, which plunged over a bridge embankment in Peach county.

ROBINSON WOULD CURB MONOPOLIES IN TARIFF

Nominee Urges Schedule To Maintain High Wage Standard.

Cheyenne, Wyo., October 18.—(AP)—A tariff that will maintain legitimate business and "high and just standards of wages" but at the same time "strike at monopolies," was promised by Senator Joe T. Robinson tonight in the event of a democratic victory.

He attacked the republican record on farm relief and particularly Senator Curtis, the republican vice presidential nominee, "for voting to pass the McNary-Eugen bill and then casting his vote to sustain President Coolidge's veto." He declared that the democratic party, if given control of the government, would "solve the farm problem in six months, as contrasted with the eight years which the republicans have wasted."

Cites Democratic Aims. The democratic program for tariff legislation, Senator Robinson said, is based on these principles: Maintenance of legitimate business and high wages for laborers; increase of the purchasing power of wages by reducing "monopolistic and extortionate" tariff rates imposed in such cases "as that of the aluminum trust; restoration of the tariff commission as an impartial fact-finding tribunal; safeguards against special tariff favors, and equitable distribution of tariff burdens and benefits."

Declaring that the republican nominees are advocating higher tariff rates to relieve agriculture, Senator Robinson said that economists are generally agreed that the tariff would not maintain domestic prices of commodities produced in large surpluses and sold abroad.

"In order to accomplish agricultural relief," the nominee declared, "legislation analogous to the McNary-Haugen bill is necessary. That bill is the only comprehensive measure advanced during the Coolidge administration, of which Mr. Hoover has been the chief adviser. As everyone knows, it has been twice vetoed by President Coolidge with the approval of Secretary Hoover."

"Senator Curtis voted for the bill three times and at last voted to sustain the president's veto, this accomplishing the final defeat of all legislation for adequate farm relief. Was he wrong when he voted for the bill? If not, why did he change his position and join with his enemies to make certain its defeat?"

"As leader of the republicans in the senate, he easily could have secured the votes necessary for its passage over the veto. Senator Robinson declared that the democratic party recognized the right of men representing farm producers to take part in framing a farm relief bill. The surplus problem, he said, was considered by him and Governor-elect of Miami.

State officials of six south Florida municipalities, six chambers of commerce, two railway lines, one steamship company and three banks today had promised to send representatives to the conference.

"Our proposal," the nominee declared, "is to establish government agencies through which the surplus crops may be marketed to advantage, imposing the costs on the units marketed and benefited."

The address of the nominee tonight was the first of two speeches in Wyoming. Tomorrow he will speak in Casper and then head eastward into the troublesome farm area of the middle west.

53 Florida Interests To Be Represented At Flood Session

West Palm Beach, Fla., October 18.—(AP)—One of the most representative groups of South Floridians ever assembled will attend the Lake Okechobee flood control conference to be held here October 27, the list of those who have so far accepted invitations, reveals.

Representatives of 53 interests in Florida already have acknowledged invitations to the conference and 38 have definitely promised to attend, according to records of Mayor Vincent Oaksmith, of this city. The conference has been called by Mayor Oaksmith, Mayor Barclay H. Warburton, of Palm Beach, and Mayor E. G. Sewell, of Miami.

Within the Last Two Years.. This Improved Baking Method Has Completely Changed the Bread Buying of Atlanta Housewives

Another New Heat-Controlled, "Travelling" Oven—made necessary by the Increasing Demand for Bamby Bread

THE Bamby Bread of two years ago was good bread. It had the finest ingredients, high patent flour, rich milk and pure creamery butter. But it differed little from other bread. Much of the food value of these fine ingredients—much of the taste—was lost, because the old-fashioned brick ovens couldn't be controlled. Temperature varied. Bread couldn't be baked uniformly. Inevitably many loaves were slightly overbaked—others underbaked.

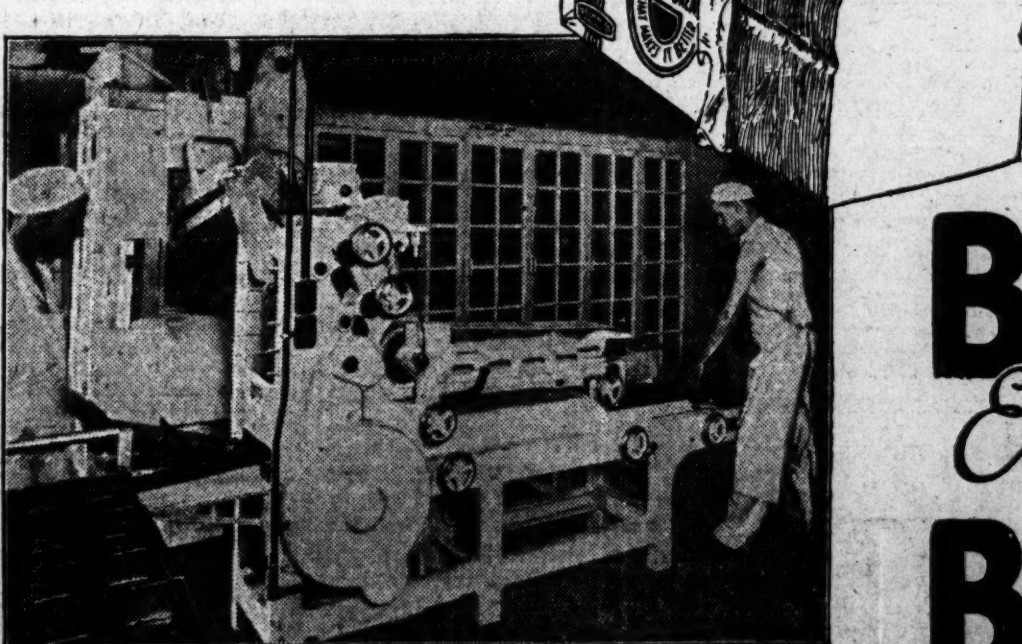

Then, two years ago, the first gas-fired, heat-controlled, "travelling" oven was installed. A new departure in baking! Nothing ever like it before in Atlanta! It made a different loaf of Bamby—a loaf far superior to other breads in flavor and freshness. It made possible the application of scientifically correct baking temperature to every loaf. It absolutely eliminated uneven baking! This new Bamby loaf met with instant approval among Atlanta housewives. Women mentioned "Bamby" to each other. And thousands switched to Bamby in their buying. Today more Atlanta women use Bamby than any other bread, for they've found this improved baking method means better bread for the family.

Kneading and moulding the dough—heretofore done by hand—is now done by this new device known as a "panner-moulder"—the first machine of its kind to be used by any bakery in Atlanta. It means that the Bamby loaf is untouched by human hands from the time the flour is mixed until the bread comes from the oven!

Back and forth in this white-enameled, sanitary oven, travels the Bamby loaf until it is baked exactly right. And every loaf baked exactly alike! Bamby is the only bread in Atlanta that's baked by this modern method.

Judge Samuel B. Adams Makes Party Loyalty Plea In Address at Savannah

Flays Tactics Adopted by
G. O. P. Nominees and
Defends Candidacy of
Governor Al Smith.

Savannah, Ga., October 18.—(Special.)—In a stirring address here today, Judge Samuel B. Adams, democratic elector from the first Georgia district made an ardent plea for loyalty in the ranks of party members in Georgia in the coming presidential election.

Judge Adams flayed the tactics being adopted by the republican nominees and defended the candidacy of Governor Alfred E. Smith. He spoke as follows:

"Fellow democrats and fellow Georgians: Those of us who are daring to support the nominees of our party exhibit great temerity, not to say audacity. Many of the intemperate and inflammatory opponents of the democratic nominee for president paint him as the representative of wickedness and predict in lurid language the direful consequences of his election, should this calamity be visited upon our afflicted country.

"Recently a meeting was called in Savannah in support of the republican ticket under the auspices of the good ladies of the W. C. T. U. They gave as a reason for their call that they did not wish their sons to be drunkards, gamblers or libertines. The implications with reference to the supporters of the democratic ticket were very pleasant and flattering.

"A prominent clerical supporter of the ticket called attention to the sharp opposition between the Robinson meeting and his meeting, and announced a 'cleavage line' on one side of which is the mass of moral and religious leadership of the people. The report is not clear as to how he characterized those of us who are on the wrong side of the cleavage line, but the implication is sufficiently plain. According to the public prints he would regard it as a supreme calamity if Governor Smith were elected because of the things that stand for him, assertively hold that 'immorality stands for Smith.'

In a union meeting held recently in Waycross, as I learn from a gentleman who was present and, who in protest against the remarks, left the church, a religious (Heaven save the mark!) leader of a religious meeting asserted that Smith was so full of whisky that if you punched a hole in him enough liquor would escape to drown every man, woman and child in the United States. Should some rattle-brain sister, mentally unbalanced by the lurid charges against Catholics and against Smith in particular, spread through the country by anti-Catholic literature and stimulated not infrequently by ministers, stick a knife into the governor, what a terrible deluge would overflow the country to its utter destruction! The floods of the Mississippi and Florida would not be a circumstance. One comforting view to a large element of professional, but not practical prohibitionists would be that they would die happy, drinking in their favorite beverage.

"Another minister is reported to have said in a neighboring town that all the supporters of Smith were 'going to hell.' This is a delightful prospect. I mention it for your warning and suggest that you make haste and repent.

"With deference to them, sometimes, when ministers, in their pulpits or on the stump, take a hand in a heated political contest, their utterances are encouraging to the republicans, or conservatism, or fairness. They sometimes become emotional rather than accurate, venemous rather than logical.

"I hasten to say, however, that in our dire condition of hopeless degeneracy we have a goodly company. Democratic papers like The Atlanta Constitution and the Atlanta Journal have from time to time contained letters and interviews from distinguished men and women endorsing Governor Smith and the democratic ticket. These who are supporting the republican ticket are not voting for a candidate only, they are voting for a party that has been corrupt, and for a continuance in office of this party. By their vote they can escape the fact that there is an implied endorsement of the career of that party.

"The suggestion that Governor Smith, while in the legislature of New York, favored vice and gambling, or that he drinks to an excess, is wholly unjust to him. He has published a full and detailed statement as to his votes and they are entirely consistent with an utter absence of any purpose or thought of this character. No man who knows him doubts his honesty, or his truthfulness. Whatever his faults, he is absolutely frank and candid, does not even evade. To use the language of George Foster Peabody, who has known him for 20 years, one of the best and purest men of this country (and who is also on the 'immorality' side), he 'cannot even think crooked.' After his legislative career, and when the people of his native state knew him and knew his record very much better than any of his present detractors, lay or clerical, they gave him overwhelming majorities, and in the votes for Smith were a large number of the best and purest men and women in New York. It is unthinkable that they would have endorsed a man for governor whose legislative record had been stained with vice or crime, or was not such as to appeal to the best element in New York, or whose habits were bad.

"Woodrow Wilson would not have endorsed him if there had been any reason to believe that this record was sullied, or that he drank to an excess.

"The New York Tribune, at that time and at the present time a partisan republican paper, and the leading republican paper in New York, when Mr. Smith was leaving the legislature to become sheriff of the county of New York, wrote: 'The city of New York could afford to pay Alfred E. Smith all the professional emoluments of the sheriff's office as a consideration for his continuing to represent a local assembly at Albany. In the past 10 years there has been no republican, progressive or democratic in the state legislature who has rendered as effective, useful, downright valuable service to the town as ex-Speaker Smith.'

COUNCIL MEMBERS OPPOSE ACCIDENT REPORTS BY GRADY

Declaring hospitals are not detective bureaus, Councilman Raleigh Drennon, of the ninth ward, who is vice chairman of the hospitals and charities committee of city council, Thursday stated that while Grady hospital is willing to cooperate in any possible way with the Atlanta police department, he feels that the police themselves should make investigations of traffic accidents without insisting on formal reports from Grady.

Chief of Police James L. Beavers Thursday issued a statement favoring the filing of reports with the police. His suggestion would have made it mandatory on hospital authorities to make reports to police in all cases of traffic accidents.

Alderman William B. Hartfield, of the third ward, also scored the suggestion as impracticable on the theory that it would cause endless litigation by giving unethical attorneys access to all reports.

"We can see no actual benefit which would accrue from such a system," Mr. Hartfield and Mr. Drennon said. "It would be embarrassing in many instances. Records of all hospitals are now open to police inspection or should be. This, it seems to us, should serve the purpose."

RITCHIE ATTACKS SMITH FOES WHO STRESS TAMMANY

Stamford, Conn., October 18.—(AP) Governor Ritchie, of Maryland, speaking at a democratic mass meeting here tonight, declared that "Tammany hall no more dominates Alfred E. Smith than I do."

"If there is any dominating," he added, "Smith dominates Tammany." Answering what he termed "this anti-Tammany stuff," Governor Ritchie asserted that to say Governor Smith would not make a good president because he is a member of Tammany hall would be the equivalent of saying that no democrat from the city of New York could be eligible for president, "because there are no New York city democrats who are active party men who do not belong to Tammany."

"Tammany," he said, "is simply the historic name of the democratic party organization in Manhattan. It has had its black sheep and its black and white days, as every party organization has had in every state, city and county of the union. It would be just as reasonable to hold Hoover or Coolidge responsible for the political scandals of Grant's day, as to hold Smith responsible for the iniquities of Tweed or Croker."

Governor Ritchie described as "an affront" any attack on Tammany "from a party which relies for its life and sustenance on the Vane machine in Philadelphia, the Mellon-Magee machine in Pittsburgh, the Crowe-Thompson machine in Chicago, the old Cox machine in Cincinnati, the Watson state machine in Indiana, and the Small state machine in Illinois."

HUNTER BURIED TODAY Lithonia Man Died on Visit to New York.

HIGHWAY BOARD MEETS Members Hear Emanuel County Delegation.

Several minor highway department matters comprised the only business transacted by the state highway board at a short meeting Thursday morning at the capital, it was announced by John N. Holder, chairman. Mr. Holder said that the state supreme court decision on the highway mileage limit was not discussed by the board, as a motion for a rehearing of the case has been filed by the attorneys.

A delegation of commissioners from Emanuel county appeared before the board with reference to the location of the Swainsboro-Dublin road under a survey recently made by the highway department. This road matter is now in court, as a number of people dissatisfied with the proposed location have asked for an injunction against the board, Mr. Holder said. The program for road paving next year was discussed with a delegation from Cherokee county. Chairman Holder said, and the request for an allotment filed for future consideration. Another matter occupying the attention of the board was a claim for damages to an automobile which was plunged over a bridge embankment in Peach county.

ROBINSON WOULD CURB MONOPOLIES IN TARIFF

Nominee Urges Schedule To Maintain High Wage
Standard.

Cheyenne, Wyo., October 18.—(AP)—A tariff that will maintain legitimate business and "high and just standards of wages" but at the same time "strike at monopolies," was promised by Senator Joe T. Robinson tonight in the event of a democratic victory.

He attacked the republican record on farm relief and particularly Senator Curtis, the republican vice presidential nominee, "for voting to pass the McNary-Eugen bill and then casting his vote to sustain President Coolidge's veto." He declared that the democratic party, if given control of the government, would "solve the farm problem in six months, as contrasted with the eight years which the republicans have wasted."

Cites Democratic Aims. The democratic program for tariff legislation, Senator Robinson said, is based on these principles: Maintenance of legitimate business and high wages for laborers; increase of the purchasing power of wages by reducing "monopolistic and extortionate" tariff rates imposed in such cases "as that of the aluminum trust; restoration of the tariff commission as an impartial fact-finding tribunal; safeguards against special tariff favors, and equitable distribution of tariff burdens and benefits."

Declaring that the republican nominees are advocating higher tariff rates to relieve agriculture, Senator Robinson said that economists are generally agreed that the tariff would not maintain domestic prices of commodities produced in large surpluses and sold abroad.

In order to accomplish agricultural relief, the nominee declared, "legislation analogous to the McNary-Haugen bill is necessary. That bill is the only comprehensive measure advanced during the Coolidge administration, of which Mr. Hoover has been the chief adviser. As everyone knows, it has been twice vetoed by President Coolidge with the approval of Secretary Hoover."

"Senator Curtis voted for the bill three times and at last voted to sustain the president's veto, this accomplishing the final defeat of all legislation for adequate farm relief. Was he wrong when he voted for the bill? If not, why did he change his position and join with his enemies to make certain its defeat?"

As leader of the republicans in the senate, he easily could have secured the votes necessary for its passage over the veto.

Senator Robinson declared that the democratic party recognized the right of men representing farm producers to take part in framing a farm relief bill. The surplus problem, he said, was considered by him and Governor Smith to be "the key to the solution of the controversy."

"Our proposal," the nominee declared, "is to establish government agencies through which the surplus crops may be marketed to advantage, imposing the costs on the units marketed and benefited."

The address of the nominee tonight was the first of two speeches in Wyoming. Tomorrow he will speak in Casper and then head eastward into the troublesome farm area of the middle west.

PRESBYTERIANS HEAR REPORT OF DIRECTORS

Georgia Synod Reaffirms
Action for Issuance of Bonds.

Brunswick, Ga., October 18.—(P)—Affirmation of the action of a call meeting held in Atlanta in June authorizing a bond issue not to exceed $175,000 for construction of a conference building on Coligny Beach was given today by the Presbyterian Synod of Georgia in session here.

Selection of the next meeting place of the synod was deferred as it was not known definitely whether the new building on Coligny Beach would be ready by next year. It was believed likely the meeting might be held at Rabun Gap, an invitation having been submitted by that town.

Reports of directors and trustees occupied most of today's sessions. Dr. J. R. McCain, of Decatur, president of the synod, submitted the report of the synod's work, while the executive committee report was given by Dr. J. S. Lyons, of Atlanta.

The synod favored the recommendation of establishment of closer relations with the Presbyterian college of South Carolina, in preference to the present connection with Davidson college of North Carolina, leaving the matter to be brought up before several minor presbytery bodies before it is finally adopted as a policy of the synod.

Dr. Egbert Smith, executive secretary of foreign missions, led the

BOLTERS 'FOOLISH,' SAYS REUBEN ARNOLD

Atlantan Says Dodgers Need
"Protection From Themselves."

Savannah, Ga., October 18.—(P)—"We have got to protect these foolish people from themselves," said Reuben Arnold, of Atlanta, referring to former, democrats supporting Hoover, in a speech tonight at the southeastern district democratic rally before a crowd which filled the main floor and first balcony of the city auditorium and partly filled the second balcony.

"In the south the democratic party stands for our civilization," he continued. "I have seen half a dozen attempts to create a lily-white republican party in Georgia but it always ends up with Ben Davis. We have not to protect these foolish people from themselves."

Referring to the religious question, Mr. Arnold declared that 400,000 Catholic soldiers from this country fought in the world war, and he had been informed that no orthodox Quaker had given to the war because of conscientious scruples. He referred to the fact that Mr. Hoover was a Quaker (Friend).

"With deference to them, sometimes when ministers in their pulpits or on the stump," said Judge Samuel B. Adams, former justice of the supreme court of Georgia, in a speech attacking deserters from the democratic ranks, "take a hand in a heated political contest, their utterances are not remarkable for moderation or conservatism."

"Those who are supporting the republican ticket," he declared, "are not voting for a candidate only, they are voting for a party that has been corrupt, and for a continuance in office of this party. By their vote they can not escape the fact that there is an implied endorsement of the career of this party."

Mrs. Floyd Fletcher, national democratic woman speaker, also addressed the meeting and was followed by O. E. Petry, labor leader in Georgia.

HOME FOLKS GREET HASSELL-CRAMER AT ROCKFORD, ILL.

Rockford, Ill., October 18.—(P)—Home-town friends today turned out en masse to welcome home Bert Hassell and Parker D. Cramer, whose projected flight from Rockford to Stockholm, Sweden, last August ended in frozen Greenland.

Rockford extended to the flyers a riotous greeting, featured by a shower of ticker tape, waste paper, stationery, newspapers and torn telephone books.

Leaving Chicago shortly after noon, Hassell, Cramer and Elmer Etes, who had gone early in the summer to Mt. Evans, Greenland, to prepare a flying field and supplies for the flyers and who accompanied them back after their rescue, arrived here aboard a special train.

When the train was half an hour from Rockford, three airplanes from the airport met it, executed loops and other "stunts" to welcome the flyers. The aviators were guests tonight at a banquet held in their honor. Each flyer was presented with a gold watch.

Tampa, Fla., October 18.—(P)—Pedro Dominguez, 32, Havana, Cuba, is dead and Louis Garcia, 20, and Fran-

NEGRO MAID TELLS OF HARRIS KILLING IN MURDER TRIAL

New Orleans, October 18.—(P)—A small, dark brown negro was the principal witness at the morning session of the Sara Kelloway murder trial and she told virtually the same story as that of her husband, Albert Hamilton, negro valet of Oakley Harris, the slain man.

Glancing furtively at the defendant, whom she referred to as "Miss Sara," the woman testified that the shot was fired almost immediately after Mrs. Kelloway had entered the bathroom and had ordered Raymond Slate out while she opened the conversation with Harris.

The state seeks to prove that Mrs. Kelloway fired the deadly shot as soon as she entered while the defense will attempt to prove there was a struggle which caused the defendant to shoot in self defense. During the negro's testimony, Mrs. Kelloway lowered her head and when the witness said the defendant crawled into the bedroom "like a dog" where Harris was dying, she picked nervously at her fingers, as her body shook.

Judge Eschbach moved to another court room today for fear the crowd of half hundred would break down the floor of the other which was showing the strain.

Connolly in Jail While Lawyers Seek Stay of Sentence

New York, October 18.—(P)—While Maurice E. Connolly's lawyers were seeking a stay of his sentence of one year in jail and $500 fine pending appeal, Connolly himself today occupied a cell in Queens county jail. The former president of Queens borough was convicted yesterday of conspiring with the late John M. Phillips, sewer pipe dealer, to defraud the city in the construction of the $29,000,000 Queens sewer system.

In an adjoining cell sat Frederick Seely, former sewer design engineer of Queens, convicted with Connolly. Seely is awaiting sentence by Supreme Court Justice Tompkins on Saturday.

Reporters were barred from seeing them, but Warden Fox said the former Queens officials slept peacefully and well on their prison cots. This morning they rejected the jail break ham and eggs, fruit, toast and coffee.

Connolly had dinner last night at his $100,000 home in Forest Hills. Then he packed his clothes in two bags and was driven to jail by his chauffeur in his private car.

FORMER CROKER AID LOSES FLORIDA PLEA

Motion To Add Evidence in Property Settlement
Case Denied.

Jacksonville, Fla., October 18.—(P)—Federal Judge Lake Jones today denied a motion by attorneys for V. B. McDonald, vice president of the Palm Beach Estates, at Palm Beach, to introduce supplemental documentary evidence in the famous Richard Croker property settlement case, now pending in the state and federal courts.

The motion contained evidence that state supreme court had held that McDonald had been an agent of Croker's in an alleged agreement to sell certain property of theirs at Palm Beach, despite the contention by Mrs. Bula Croker, widow of the former Tammany Hall chieftain, that McDonald's services as an agent had expired at the time of Croker's death.

In denying the motion, Judge Jones declared that he did not consider the supplemental evidence as necessary at this time, but would take acceptance of such a motion under consideration at the time the case comes up for final adjudication, probably after the first of next year.

Today's case was that of Howard Croker, Florence Croker Morris, Richard Croker, Jr., and Ethel Croker White, children of the former Tammany Hall chieftain, by his first marriage, versus Bula Croker, his widow by a second marriage, and McDonald and the Palm Beach Estates, a corporation.

Attorneys John T. G. Crawford and George C. Bedell appeared for the complainants, the Croker children, while B. F. Puty of West Palm Beach, and C. H. Lichter of Jacksonville, represented the defendants, who made the motion.

ANTI-WAR PACT WINS DEGREE FOR KELLOGG

Secretary of State Honored by Carleton College at Northfield, Minn.

Northfield, Minn., October 18.—(P)—In recognition of his constructive service to the nation and for his leadership "in the realization of humanitarian hope for a warless world," the degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg by Carleton college today.

Conferring of the degree took place immediately after Secretary Kellogg had dedicated Severance hall to the memory of his life-long friend and law partner for nearly two score years, Cordelia A. Severance.

The hood of purple and maize, significant of the highest degree that can be given by the college, was placed over the shoulders of the secretary of state by Dr. Donald J. Cowling, president of Carleton college.

President Cowling paid high tribute to the constructive work of Secretary Kellogg in connection with his anti-war pact, his service to the country as ambassador to Great Britain and to his record in national legislative halls during his term as United States senator from Minnesota.

Secretary Kellogg came to Minnesota from Washington to make the speech at the dedicatory ceremonies, Secretary Kellogg, in 1887, became the law partner and intimate associate of Mr. Severance, for whom the new $300,000 Carleton dormitory was named. Both the late Mr. Severance and Mrs. Severance were students at Carleton from 1887 to 1891.

The degree of doctor of laws was voted him more than a year ago. Because of other duties, Mr. Kellogg was unable to receive the degree at commencement exercises last June.

Terre Haute, Ind., October 18.—Indiana miners and operators tonight signed a new wage agreement to supplant the old Jacksonville scale. The action closed a five weeks' session of the scale committees of the two organizations.

BANDIT SUSPECT FLEES AMID HAIL OF BULLETS

Cornered in House, Man
Leaps From Window and Escapes.

An escaped convict, thought to have been connected with the series of store hold-ups staged in Atlanta recently, was pursued and fired upon by detectives as he fled from a house at 301 Eleventh street, N. W., shortly after noon Thursday.

According to Detective John Lowe, who has been assigned to the investigation of the murder of E. H. Meeks, in a store hold-up on Hemphill avenue several weeks ago, he and Detective Lieutenant J. W. Barfield had watched the house all night Wednesday and for the greater part of Thursday morning before their quarry was sighted.

The man, according to Detective Lowe, was Bud Lampkin, who recently escaped from a state chinking after he had been sentenced from Marietta on a charge of car-bombing. Acting on a "tip" that Lampkin had been seen at the house, the watch was posted and when a man entered the house near noon Thursday the officers followed only to have their prey leap through a rear window and escape in a swamp at the rear of the house. The man was seen to have a .45 calibre automatic pistol, the same type of weapon as that used in killing Meeks and wounding Willard Smith in another hold-up attempt early this week, was found in the house.

While a comparison of the firing pin impressions on cartridges fired from the gun captured and those found near scene of the killing revealed a superficial resemblance, Detective Lowe would not definitely state that they were identical. He said that the man might be the one used in the shootings, but would not definitely make such a statement, indicating that he wished to further check the matter.

The detective also stated that another angle that gave rise to doubt that Lampkin was guilty of the hold-up and shootings was the fact that he was alone and had not been reported as having been in the company of men resembling Dickerson, Alabama jail bird, or other men definitely identified as the men who took part in the fatal holdup and others preceding it.

HEAD OF DRY LEAGUE STARTS TERM TODAY

Chief of Indiana Unit Abandons Fight to Escape Sentence.

Indianapolis, Ind., October 18.—(P)—The Rev. E. S. Shumaker, superintendent of the Indiana Anti-Saloon league, today gave up the battle to escape the 60-day sentence on the state penal farm imposed on him by the Indiana supreme court for contempt. He was alleged to have caused the publication of statements criticizing members of the court for their decisions involving the enforcement of the prohibition law.

Plans had been made to take Shumaker this afternoon to the penal farm at Putnamville, a short distance west of Indianapolis, but inclement weather caused a later decision by William L. Reinson, sheriff of the supreme court, to defer the trip until 8 a. m. tomorrow. The dry leader will carry with him a well worn Bible that has been on his office desk for years.

Following his conviction on the contempt charge Shumaker and his associates declared an appeal would be taken to the United States supreme court, but statements today that they declared that lack of funds to carry on the case prompted the decision to abandon the fight.

The contempt charge against the Anti-Saloon league superintendent was filed by Arthur L. Gilliom, attorney general for Indiana. It was charged that Shumaker was responsible for the publication in the annual report of the Anti-Saloon league statements that certain justices of the supreme court were prejudiced in their decisions in liquor cases.

Fredericksburg Expectantly Awaits Arrival of President.

Fredericksburg, Va., October 18.—(P)—Fredericksburg's population expectantly awaits tonight the arrival of President Coolidge tomorrow to formally dedicate the National Battlefield Park here, scene of four major conflicts of the war between the states.

The president will arrive by special train from Washington at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and accompanying him will be Mrs. Coolidge and three special aides. Admiral Charles P. Hughes, chief of naval operations; Major General John Lejeune, commander of the marine corps; and Brigadier General John H. Wells, acting chief of staff, United States army. The usual white house staff and a corps of newspapermen are also expected to accompany the president.

Salute to President.
The president's salute of 21 guns will be fired as the chief executive and his party alight from the train by Battery F, One Hundred and Eleventh Field Artillery, Virginia national guard.

Immediately after arrival here the president and Mrs. Coolidge will be taken for a short motor tour of the city, after which they will proceed to Grandfield Hotel Country club, where the dedicatory ceremonies are scheduled to begin at 3 o'clock. Congressmen S. Otis Bland, of Virginia, will serve as master of ceremonies. Addresses and music incident to the occasion will be broadcast through a Washington radio station, connected with a network of other stations. Music will be in charge of marine corps musical organizations.

Following the address of President Coolidge, Governor Harry Flood Byrd, of Virginia, will speak and he will be followed by Senator Claude A. Swanson, of Virginia, and Edgar J. Rich, of Boston, who will unveil the tablet to commemorate the beginning of work on the park project.

Local officials in charge of arrangements have announced that ample accommodations have been provided for the expected huge crowd.

The battlefield park area will include four of the major battlefields of the war between the states, Salem Church, Chancellorsville, The Wilderness and Spotsylvania courthouse. It also will include the "bloody angle," where 14,000 soldiers fell and the spot where Stonewall Jackson fell mortally wounded.

Establishment of the park was at the direction of congress and a total of $470,000 has been authorized for this purpose. At the present time a local committee is at work to interest individual states, veterans organizations and descendants of those who fought in the area, to erect suitable memorials in the park.

only a few choice seats left, and advises immediate reservation on the part of local entertainment lovers and midnight frolic patrons.

WHITEMAN TICKETS GO ON SALE SATURDAY

Famous Orchestra Has Given 600 Concerts in Last Three Years.

Paul Whiteman and his famous concert orchestra of 30 performers have given more than 600 concerts in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, France, Germany, Holland and Belgium in the last three years—since their last appearance in Atlanta.

Now, after a long tour of the Paramount picture theaters, where he received the highest price ever paid for an attraction, Whiteman and his orchestra have returned to the concert field and will appear here Tuesday night at the auditorium. Tickets for the occasion will go on sale at the Cable Piano company at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, although hundreds already have been sold through the mail. Mail orders may be addressed to the Southern Musical bureau, Wynne-Claughton building, sponsors of the attraction.

Whiteman does not encroach upon the symphonic field. He seeks to give expression to the solitary musical impulse which may be said to have originated in North America, "jazz." This much maligned word carries with it no opprobrium nowadays and is frankly worshipped by millions. It seeks to epitomize in four letters the vital, energetic, rhythmic, pulsating beat of American life. When Paul Whiteman was hailed in Berlin as the "Jazz King" (jazz king), it was meant as a compliment of the highest order.

He was active in civic affairs until his illness in June, this year, from which he failed to recover.

ON THE DEFENSIVE.

The national republican committee today is clearly on the defensive.

And like an army in battle, when it gets on the defensive it gets on the run.

The masterful, logical and unanswerable address of Governor Smith at Sedalia, Mo., so nettled and so rattled the republican leaders that they rushed into print with denials of this, that and the other thing.

And the unfortunate feature is that at least one of the high-up cabinet officials so lost his temper that he challenged the democratic candidate's ability, and implied that he was mentally incapable of knowing "what it was all about," and so on. Bad politics!

That's the unmistakable sign of retreat.

The fact is Governor Smith has demonstrated such a profound knowledge of all national affairs, of their conduct, of their significance and of their practical needs, and has expounded them in such simple and understandable language, that he has dumfounded the republican leaders and alarmed them practically into a panic.

In his expose of the republican fallacies as to economy in government under republican regime he did not make a single statement that he did not prove by the members of the administration.

He made these officials, their printed documents, their records, their facts and figures, the testimony.

He brought them personally to the witness stand, and all of the denials they can muster between now and November cannot disprove one word the democratic candidate said.

Just as sure as daylight follows night the republicans are on the run!

WHY NOT A MENTAL WARD?

The statement of Dr. William A. White, of Washington, one of the world's most noted psychiatrists, that Atlanta should have a psychopathic ward at Grady hospital, is not merely worthy of consideration, but ought to compel it. We have repeatedly called attention to this urgent need. Said Dr. White:

"It must be remembered that the proportion of cases in a crowded, large institution like the Milledgeville sanitarium is inevitably much lower than it would be in a proper ward in the city hospital. I venture to say that at least half the cases of temporary insanity now occurring, which become permanent cases under present conditions, could be fully cured and restored to their families if a group of psychopathic ward, was installed in your city hospital."

This is a voice of authority, and though it does not come from a Georgia citizen, it does come from a trained brain, and a human heart. With no mental ward in the city, the treatment of the mentally sick, under the law of Georgia, requires that they be arrested, as though criminals, and confined for not less than ten days in Fulton jail. They are then taken before a jury of 12 men—none of whom are specially fitted to judge mental disease but who are the average run of jurymen and, if the jury so decides, they are then committed to the state sanitarium at Milledgeville.

It is natural to assume that, even with no changes in the Georgia laws, judges would commit those arrested for mental weakness to a psychopathic ward for observation. In the event we had such a ward with an experienced psychiatrist in charge.

There is no greater human appeal than that made by the mentally sick. It is an appeal that strikes deep into the heart of every one. That such unfortunates, guilty of no crimes, should be incarcerated with the criminals in a prison, is almost unthinkable.

That every scientific effort should not be made to cure such unfortunates, or to so help them that they may become useful, is a neglect that borders on inhumanity.

The state institution at Milledgeville is doing a splendid service, but it is overcrowded, and at best the situations confronting the unfortunates before they can be committed there are inexcusable.

Atlanta's heart is big and responsive. This city does big things in a big way.

Let's accept Dr. White's suggestions in the kindly and helpful spirit in which they were given and profit by them. He is to be commended for the frankness of his expressions.

FOR RELIGIOUS LIBERTY.

In his address in Atlanta former Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, one of the most prominent Methodist laymen in the country, made himself definitely plain on the question of religious liberty. Said he:

"I believe profoundly in civil and religious liberty. My own state of North Carolina rejected the constitution for two years until the other states put the religious liberty clause into it. I deny the right of any man or court or law to say to me what I shall believe or how I shall worship my Maker."

He cited the constitutional provision for religious liberty, also the constitutional mandate that one's religious beliefs shall not be a test for holding public office.

Mr. Daniels knows, as does every one who makes a study of the peculiar and unusual political situation in the south today, that the real cause of the democratic defection—which is rapidly weakening—is religious prejudice.

A large number of the so-called "anti-Smith democrats"—a misnomer, for there can be no such persons—are actuated in their opposition to Governor Smith by the fact that he is a Catholic. Many make bold to say so despite the federal constitution.

Many hide behind a so-called "prohibition issue" because they are afraid to attack paragraph three, of the sixth section, and are afraid to attack the first amendment, while espousing the 18th amendment.

There are undoubtedly a great many heretofore democrats who are opposing Governor Smith on his prohibition views—although he stands for national sobriety while under republican administrations the country has been and is being drenched with bootleg hooch—but it is undeniably true that there is an organized attempt to mobilize prejudice against him because of his religion.

Mr. Daniels, who is a Christian statesman, has spoken, as a Protestant leader, words that ought to carry conviction to every man and woman in America.

PRESBYTERIAN SYNODS WARNED.

In view of the fact that a Presbyterian minister of this locality has felt called upon to defend ministers of all faiths who are carrying partisan politics into their pulpits, and who even goes far enough to say the "democratic party is headed straight to immortality," etc., the official action of the Rev. Dr. Lewis Seymour Mudge, of New York, stated clerk of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, may be interesting to him, and to other Presbyterians who feel as he does.

Dr. Mudge has recently transmitted a letter to the stated clerk of each of the 46 Presbyterian state synods and to the stated clerk of each of the 296 presbyteries, declaring that the constitution of the Presbyterian church commands that synods and councils must not interfere in political affairs.

In his letter Dr. Mudge recommends that wherever a synod or a presbytery has adopted any resolutions on politics that they reconsider the matter and rescind the action so that it can be expunged from the minutes before the next general assembly.

From his letter we quote:

"It is important that the historic position of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America with reference to the relations between church and state should be maintained at all times."

This situation was fully explained recently in a communication from one of Atlanta's leading citizens and a distinguished Presbyterian layman—Marion Jackson.

Further comment is unnecessary! The claim that liquor has been injected into the campaign is unfounded. It didn't need that kind of a stimulant.

Los Angeles had a snow storm the other day and Florida says honors are even.

Those on the inside are giving us the dope. Those on the outside will give us the vote.

Jolas on America.

M. Eugene Jolas, editor of "transition," an American language magazine appearing in Paris, writes his opinions on present day America in the Revue Europeenne, much to the gratification of certain French critics. M. Jolas says, among other things: "For the moment I consider living in America a sort of machine gun, which I have no taste at all. I am against Ford, against Hoover, against Smith, against the dry regime, against all churches and sects against business men with grey, bored faces, against newspapermen that stick noses into my business, against the law that forbids to accompany a woman you love from New York to New Jersey, etc., etc." But that is not all. "America, puffed up with mercantile optimism, satisfied with her own mediocrity, influences the world more and more. She creates a caricature of optimism and she triumphs; under the first time French critics have heard, what they call the usual and tiresome American refrain of 'We have the biggest city and the largest that.'"

Comedian says that in the light of M. Jolas' revelations it must be terribly tiresome to live in America. Still everybody cannot come to live in France, like M. Jolas. Some must stay to face out all that alleged horror.

Great Radio Preacher.

The Lenten sermons in Notre Dame cathedral have always interested Paris to an unusual degree. Anti-clerical France has been in general averse to the announcement of a famous preacher in the pulpit of that church brings even the most intransigent priests to church at least once a year. The reason is that the Frenchman delights in an eloquent discourse, the subject matter being of more or less secondary consideration. Two years ago Paris went to hear the famous Jesuit, Father Ranson. Last year he was replaced by Mr. Baudouin, a learned and able historian, the only priest to be member of the Academie Francaise, the college of the immortals. Mr. Baudouin gave a series of lectures on the "History of the Church in France." His speeches were broadcast all over Europe. And a great was the interest and so wide the comment, that the bishop of Paris, Cardinal Dubois, has decided to call another historian to the pulpit next Lenten. The selection is Professor La Boullay, the erudite Frenchman who teaches history at the Sorbonne university in Paris. ## GROUP OF EXPORTERS ADDRESSED BY HOOVER

Candidate Stresses Government Cooperation in Foreign Trade.

Washington, October 18.—(AP)—Discussing the necessity for government cooperation with American industry in building up foreign trade, Herbert Hoover told a group of exporters today that it was of extreme importance that men whose eyes were fixed upon the country's future should get into "this campaign and see that the public mind is corrected."

While the republican presidential candidate did not refer directly to any phase of the alleged "whispering campaign" in speaking to the members to the Hoover-Curtis national export committee, he assured them of his appreciation of their activity "because campaigns are filled with many issues and movements that have nothing to do fundamentally with the prosperity and progress of the country."

Prominent Exporters. Among those who were officials of a score of prominent exporting firms, the nominee spoke of the strides taken by foreign trade in the past several years and asserted that he felt one primary factor in the stability of American business and continuation of employment was the expansion of foreign trade. In working toward this end, he explained that a basis of cooperation between government and industry had been resorted to instead of compulsion.

"You know as well as I know the enormous volume of opportunities that are constantly coming into American industry through the governmental agencies throughout the world, and the effect they have had in the actual expansion of trade," he said. "But more important than that, this whole organism set up in cooperation with industry and export all over the country, has resulted in directing the public mind and our merchants and manufacturers to the primary necessity of trade as the basis of stability. So we have made many gains out of it. We have the gain in employment, probably to the extent of four or five thousand in the export trade alone."

Time of Necessity. "The next few years are going to be a time of necessity for even more intensive cooperation, for the recuperation of the world is going to make competition more intensive. At the same time the world is going to expend its demands enormously, and our problem is to get our share of the expansion. We do not want a 'let man's trade.' We do not want to denude him of business. We only want our fair share of the world's growth and expansion."

The spokesman for the exporters, Ella H. Hooker, of New York, declared that it was the desire of the exporters to see Hoover elected, and that their larger enterprises may come to fruition, and that the policies of the department of commerce might not be changed.

Works on New York Speech. The candidate again gave much of his thought today to his New York speech, intending to deliver it on the morning to receive the exporters and former United States Attorney General George W. Wickham, and in the afternoon to meet a committee from the Steuben society, a prominent German organization.

Wickham, after his call upon Hoover, declared that New York was veering strongly toward the Hoover column.

"While our people have been generous to Governor Smith as a local administrator we appreciate probably more than any other state in the union the wide difference between the governorship of a single state and the presidency of the United States," he said.

"It is no reflection on Mr. Smith as governor of New York to say that Mr. Hoover is so far better qualified by his national and world-wide experience to administer the office of president than Governor Smith, that there should be little difficulty on the part of any citizen to determine his course in this election," he added.

The group from the Steuben society told the nominee that since a committee from that organization was expected to have recommended the candidacy of the New York governor, they have felt it their duty as members of this society to come here and say to you that we believe that this action in no sense represents the feeling of a vast majority of our members."

BANDIT JAWORSKI WILL BE RETURNED TO PENNSYLVANIA

Pittsburgh, October 18.—(AP)—Paul Jaworski, convicted slayer and bandit gang leader, will be brought back to the Allegheny county jail from which he shot his way 14 months ago. Prosecutor E. A. Stanton, of Cuyahoga county, Ohio, said today. Prosecutor Stanton said that Ohio would relinquish its claim to the bandit's life and he would be returned here where he awaits sentence for the killing of a pay roll guard. Ohio authorities previously had said they would place Jaworski on trial for killing a Cleveland policeman unless they had assurance that the death penalty would be pronounced upon him for the killing in this county. Jaworski now is in the Cuyahoga county jail.

INQUIRY INTO HOFF'S ACTIVITIES UP AGAIN

Philadelphia To Resume Quiz After Examination of Police Captains.

Philadelphia, Pa., October 18.—(AP) Indications of an early return by a grand jury to investigation of the activities of Max "Boo Boo" Hoff, alleged "king of bootleggers," were seen today in the announcement of District Attorney Monaghan that he was nearly through with the examination of police captains.

The prosecutor said he shortly would take up other matters in connection with the rum racket from which he has declared the police collected $10,000,000 a year in bribes. A grand jury report on the subject of wealth of police captains will be presented to Judge Edwin O. Lewis in a few days.

More than 40 members of the police department, including several captains, have been indicted on charges of accepting bribes from saloonkeepers. The trial of Matthew Patterson, reputedly the state legislator, and member of the state legislature, and Charles W. Schoenlebe, suspended captain of police, on charges of extortion, bribery and conspiracy, today entered its third day. Saloonkeepers testified before the grand jury that the defendants collected $12,125 in five months from a group of bootleggers for protection. Several men have told the trial jury that they paid $25 every two weeks from March until the middle of August to prevent their saloons from being molested by police.

One of the witnesses, Francis J. McKeown, who was alleged to have repudiated previous statements, was arrested in court charged with perjury. He was at liberty today under $5,000 bail.

Red Without Fear To End in Going To His Execution

Lucca, Italy, October 18.—(United News).—Michele Della Maggiora, who was convicted Wednesday of killing two fascist officials because of their politics, sat calmly in a chair behind a cemetery at Ponte Bugianese at dawn today and faced the rifle muzzles of 12 crack marksmen of the ninety-fourth legion of fascist militia.

A freshly lighted cigarette hung from the corner of his mouth and his hands were tightly bound behind his chair. Maggiora suddenly shouted at the top of his voice and at the same time a burst of flame spouted from the rifle muzzles. The slayer of two fascists died instantly with an oath on his lips and at the hands of his victims' compatriots.

At no time was there a hint of fear in the manner of the condemned man. His last wish was for a cigarette and his last words were fierce curses to repel the priest who offered him solace at the moment he faced the firing squad.

Maggiora, a communist, was the first civilian put to death in Italy in 46 years since capital punishment was abolished in 1882. The special military tribunal which tried him however, has power to order the death of soldiers or persons accused of special offenses against the state.

AUTHOR OF DRY LAW ASSAILS ENFORCEMENT

Declares Republicans Lax in Making It a Success.

Kansas City, October 18.—(AP)—Senator Morris Sheppard, democrat, of Texas, author of the 18th amendment, assailed what he termed "the lax enforcement of the prohibition laws by the republicans" in a Smith campaign address here last night.

"The record of the republican party is more a record of nullification than the position assumed by Governor Smith," he said. "Smith is bound by the party plank to enforce the laws."

Discussing opposition to Governor Smith because of his association with Tammany Hall, Senator Sheppard said: "I hold no brief for Tammany Hall, but I am sure of this: There are among its members men as upright and patriotic as any in the United States."

"To those who condemn the Tammany aid of Governor Smith, I com-

"Furthermore, to refuse Governor Smith your support because of his personal views on prohibition after that law has been written into the constitution of the country and after Smith promised to enforce the law as long as it remained a law, is to take a position subversive to the welfare of the country."

An Advantageous Purchase of 31 Living Room Suites Bought at Slightly Less Than Half Price

We're Going to Sell Them for

$195

One of Chicago's leading Living Room Suite manufacturers made us a price on an unusually large lot of living room suites. The price was made to include them all. And the price was tempting. We made a very careful inspection of all materials—we passed on the workmanship. We agreed to take them all, as the price was slightly under half their price.

The picture above shows one of these suites—a Tuxedo model. Others have carved walnut and mahogany frames. The overstuffed suites have solid mahogany and walnut base. All handsomely carved. They are finished in plain and blocked mohair, Linen Vellour, Linen Frieze. . . Colors are Taupe, Blue, Burgundy, Reseda Green and Rust. . . They have reversible spring cushions—one side finished with decorative genuine linen frieze.

Not a suite among them is worth less than twice the price for which we offer them.

Selling for cash is only one of the reasons why we can sell fine furniture at small prices. The other equally effective one is the great quantities in which we buy furniture—a price-making buying power.

TWO ARE ARRESTED
BY FRENCH POLICE
AS NATIONAL SPIES

Nice, France, October 18.—(AP)—Prominence is given to another Riviera spy story by the newspaper Le Petit Nicaois, which asserts that the police have arrested two Italians, one of whom confessed to espionage in behalf of "a neighboring country." Incriminating papers are declared to have been discovered in the other's apartment.

The newspaper says that Ugo Montefiori, who was arrested at Marseille October 8, has made a full confession and that because of his statements an architect, Luigi Sandini, was taken into custody. Important papers were found in his home.

The authorities are not willing to discuss the affair, but the paper points to the presence here of M. Du Cloux, head of the anti-espionage branch of the French surete generale, and the French Scotland yard—evidence of its importance.

BARRERE ORCHESTRA PLAYS HERE TONIGHT

Noted Maestro Is Devoted Husband and Loving Father.

George Barrere, who will appear with his Little Symphony orchestra on the stage at the Woman's club auditorium tonight, is not only an internationally known director and an eminent flute virtuoso, but he is a devoted husband and a loving father, according to his friends who have been entertained in his New York home.

On the road for many months each year with his justly famous orchestra, the maestro returns to his home to a round of teaching, but between pupils finds ample time for his family, comprising his wife and three sons.

Unlike some artists, Barrere does not discourage artistic endeavor by his wife. Only recently he discovered that Madame Barrere had a decided gift for painting, and through his encouragement she is now developing this long latent talent. He is proud of her work and it is one of his fondest ambitions to have her known as an artist of real worth. In his own words, "When I retire I would rather do so as the great artist's husband than as the former flute virtuoso."

None of the musician's sons has as yet shown any particular artistic talent, but their illustrious father does not attempt to force them to follow the work he so loves. His eldest son, a student of the piano, but not seriously, as yet, according to his father.

Maestro Barrere always makes it a point to include selections from the works of some American composer in each concert and tonight Walter Arthur Krumpholtz has been so honored. "Two Minutemen," called "Morning Joy" and "In Elizabethan Days," are the ones which will be offered by the symphony group.

Those wishing to buy subscription membership tickets for the Atlanta Music club season are urged to do so early today, as the sale will be closed promptly at 5 o'clock this afternoon. The tickets, as well as single seats for the Barrere Little Symphony concert tonight, are now on sale at Phillips & Crew Piano company. The box office at the Woman's club auditorium will open at 7:30 o'clock tonight and the concert will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Stopped His Asthma Troubles Entirely

Cough and Wheez: Left 3 Years Ago.
Been Well Ever Since.

There is good news for all who suffer from asthma or bronchial cough, in a letter by Chas. E. Jones, 2236 Hoyt Ave., Indianapolis. He says: "I contracted asthma in the army, June, 1918, was rejected from going overseas and in December I was discharged. I suffered terribly, had to sleep outdoors and greeted the milkman every morning. I tried everything, with no real relief. In June, 1924, reading about Nascor, my mother obtained a bottle. I began taking it, and felt considerably better. The next morning, my spring, 1925, the wheezing and all other symptoms were gone, and I have never had a sign of asthma." "This statement is only one of many from former victims of asthma and bronchial coughs, who have told how their trouble disappeared and never returned. Their letters and a booklet of valuable information about these diseases will gladly be sent you free by Nascor Medicine Co., 849 State Life Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind. No matter how serious your case, write for free information. It may lead you back to health, as it has thousands of others.—(adv.)"

World's Greatest Circus Will Play Atlanta Today

It's here today—the circus. Here are four scenes of unloading and performance that signify the return to Atlanta of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey.

Down this morning may mean just the beginning of another day to some people, but to a certain group of anxious youngsters it will mean something much more than that—it means the beginning of the day of days, circus day, and the coming of the Ringling Bros., and Barnum and Bailey circus train.

The first of the four sections of the hundred-car show train will roll into town from Birmingham with the first streaks of light in the eastern sky. Immediately upon arrival of the first section, the unloading of thousands of animals and tons of equipment will begin and soon the streets leading to the Highland avenue show grounds will echo to the clatter of thousands of hoofs and the rumble of big red wagons. At the show grounds tents will begin to rise in all corners, and by noon all the 32 that are necessary to house the monster organization will be erected, wherein the performances are held, which is the biggest tent in the world.

Admitted to be the greatest show on earth, the Ringling Bros., and Barnum and Bailey circus is bigger than it was when it played in Atlanta last fall, and many new and thrilling features have been added, not a few of which are importations from Europe, making their first appearances in this country.

FOUR CANDIDATES IN RACE TO HEAD EMORY STUDENTS

Four candidates for president of the Emory university student body, including Douglas Kendrick, Atlanta, have been proposed to the Emory student activities council, up to date. Election day for president and vice president has been set for November 2.

This is the first year that the entire student body will be permitted to vote upon the student body head. Heretofore, the student activities council, composed of representatives from the different schools of the university, has elected this officer. Kendrick is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity and a sophomore in the medical school. The other nominees are J. L. Harris, Valdosta, a junior in business administration; Julian Dell, Columbus, a senior in the college; and John Tate, graduate of Birmingham-Southern college, in theology. All are prominent on the campus.

VAUDEVILLE STARS WILL ENTERTAIN AT LEGION LUNCH

Entertainment at the weekly luncheons of the American Legion will be provided for hereafter by the stars of the current bills at the capitol theater, according to an announcement in the latest issue of the Atlanta Legionnaire. This has been arranged by Larry Cowan, chairman of the entertainment committee. With this as a drawing card, officials expect a large attendance at the luncheons today, which will be held at the Henry Grady hotel at 12:30 o'clock.

PI ALPHA SOCIETY HOLDS INITIATION ON EMORY CAMPUS

The first public initiation on the Emory university campus for the new year was staged by Pi Alpha, Emory chemical society. Five neophytes paraded the campus throughout the day Wednesday, carrying chemical apparatus, singing songs of nondescript nature and drinking the "sacred oxblood." Three members of the senior class and two graduate students were honored by the society. They were W. E. Robinson, of Carrollton; J. S. Wood, of Colerstown; Winifred Wynn, of Milledgeville; seniors, and E. E. Stokes, of Batesville, Ark., and Grover M. Fort, of Rome, graduate students.

BIBB MAY CHALLENGE STATE BALLOT FORM

Macon Paper Says Contest
Is Probable in General Election.

Macon, Ga., October 18.—(AP)—The Macon News today said that the "way is paved for legal action to invalidate the general election results in Bibb county, provided the county goes for Al Smith and provided it becomes evident that the complicated form of ballot ordered by Governor Hardman is confusing to the anti-Smith voters."

"Similar preparations are being made by the anti-Smith democratic party of Georgia in every county of the state."

"Invalidation of the general election vote, taking Bibb county as a specific example, would throw out the results in every race, from presidential electors down to coroner. Bibb would have no county officers to take office January 1 since the democratic nominees of the February and September primaries must be confirmed in the general election. This condition would prevail in other Georgia counties where the anti-Smith party chooses to contest the election."

"The Bibb county action in preparation for contest of the general election results was taken Wednesday afternoon when local members of the anti-Smith organization filed a petition of the state party with Ordinary Walter Stevens."

"The petition certifies to the ordinary, as required by law, the names of this party's nominees for Bibb county offices, with the request that they be included with the anti-Smith democratic electors under the heading of the party on the ballot. The Bibb nominees of the anti-Smith party are those who were chosen in the democratic primaries of February and September; also J. M. Fletcher, chosen nominee for the 22nd state senatorial district in a democratic convention here recently."

"The statehouse nominees of the anti-Smith party were certified to the secretary of state some time ago, under the law, including the presidential electors. The law provides that the

'Uncle Toby' Invites Kiddies at Circus To Attend His Party

Clinton A. Connell, better known as "Uncle Toby," and a smiling Irishman whom all the youngsters love, is here. He's the fellow who always gets the children at least a half holiday from school on circus day. He is head of the department of visual education of the Ringling Bros., Barnum and Bailey circus, that shows here today.

He has planned a delightful party for local children. It starts at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and "Uncle Toby" has invited all children to meet him at the main entrance of the "big top," where he will take them through the menagerie to see all kinds of strange animals. He will tell about the animals—how the white Polar bears got their spotless coats, what the elephants eat for lunch, why the Bengal tigers don't like a certain animal trainer, and what the camels like to eat.

Many tots will remember having heard his radio lectures and according to playing from stations all over the country. This season with the circus he has talked to over 36,000 children at the schools, his lectures having the endorsement of the president, governors and leading educators of this country.

"Uncle Toby" has persuaded the hundred or more clowns with the circus to put on special entertainment for the children who attend his party.

"The anti-Smith ticket for Bibb county as certified to Ordinary Stevens follows: For presidential electors, electors-at-large, Mrs. Charles Adamson and Mrs. Mary Harris Arner. Electors by districts, first through 12th: Frank Durden, J. M. Patterson, Charles E. Brown, Henry O. Lovorn, Mrs. Marvin Williams, George S. Jones, Fred D. Noble, Mrs. C. A. VerNoy, W. A. Carlisle, E. J. Forrester, Dan T. Cowart, J. H. Rush."

DEMOCRATIC LABOR HEAD URGES LOYALTY

State Chairman of Labor Division Pleads for Unity.

Savannah, Ga., October 18.—(AP)—O. E. Petry, state chairman of the labor division of the national democratic party, in an address here tonight said that labor could expect nothing from Herbert Hoover "except inertia when a national crisis confronts the workers."

"The republican party," said Mr. Petry, who is president of the Georgia Federation of Labor, "from time to time has made promises to assist the struggling masses, but the record of the federal administration of that party for the past seven and a half years conclusively proves that republican promises are nothing but promises, because republicans are unable to point to one single measure designed to relieve the hardships of the struggling masses."

He cited the 1925 railroad workers' strike and the 1925 and 1927 coal strikes as examples where the republican administration and President Coolidge were called upon to intervene.

"He passed the buck" to the secretary of labor," Petry said of President Coolidge. "The president used no influence to assist in a settlement. Mr. Hoover promises continuance of President Coolidge's policies; therefore, labor can expect nothing from him except inertia when a national crisis confronts the workers."

Mr. Petry compared the platform pledges of the republican and democratic parties and said the democratic declaration was much plainer and more emphatic. The acceptance speech of Mr. Hoover, he said, contained "typical evasion concerning the injunction evil" while that of Governor Alfred E. Smith was "very plain and to the point—a clear, concise statement."

The address was delivered in the municipal auditorium.

A habeas corpus petition was presented Thursday to Judge S. H. Sibley, attacking an amended sentence imposed on Walker Howard, of Mobile, Ala., which sent him to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth after he previously had been sentenced for six months.

Walker pleaded guilty before Judge R. E. Ervin in the federal court for the southern district of Alabama to a charge of transporting a stolen automobile and was sentenced to six months in the Mobile jail, the petition states, and ten days later was again brought into Judge Ervin's court and given the longer sentence in the penitentiary here. $3,000 JEWEL, LOST
BY OHIO WOMAN,
RETURNED TO HER

Fate smiled upon Mrs. E. Tripp, of Canton, Ohio, during a short visit to Atlanta recently, when she lost a $3,000 diamond from a ring only to have it found and returned safely.

Mrs. Tripp goes to Florida early each fall and makes it a practice to stop over in Atlanta for two or three days to break the monotony of the trip. Stopping here Monday afternoon she went that night to Keith's Georgia theater and on returning to her hotel discovered that the stone was missing from the ring.

She reported the loss to the theater and Tuesday a general search of the house was made by employees with no success. Not satisfied with the report, Edwin Adler, assistant manager, Wednesday morning went to the theater and after conducting a personal search found the stone lodged under an orchestra seat. The valuable gem was returned to Mrs. Tripp in time for her to continue her journey.

2 NATTY BANDITS
ROB GAS STATION
MANAGER OF $21

Two quick-acting and daring daylight bandits early Thursday afternoon forced the proprietor of a filling station on the north-traveling Piedmont road to turn over his day's receipts, while nearly a score of motor cars swept by their drivers obtained the holdup. The bandits obtained $21.

Shortly after the noon rush, J. L. Mason was attending his station near Garden Hills when two expensively dressed and mild mannered youths drove up in a new sedan. They ordered five gallons of gasoline. Mason filled the tank. One of the men, a sleek, red-haired youth dressed in a new and natty suit, emerged to pay for the gas. He confronted Mason with a revolver and forced him to empty his pockets.

The pair drove out into the heavy Piedmont road traffic and headed toward the city, Mason said. He said the sedan was new but that it bore no license tag.

County policemen searched the entire district Thursday afternoon but found no trace of the bandits.

WELFARE BODY LAUDS CHEST REORGANIZATION

Election of Atkinson as President Commended in Society's Resolution.

Recent reorganization of the Atlanta Community Chest with increase of the board of directors to represent every phase of community life, election of H. M. Atkinson as president and Frank Miller as executive director, was commended in resolutions adopted Thursday at the board meeting of the Family Welfare society, one of the organizations supported through the chest.

The changes, according to the resolutions, were brought about to give the "general public greater participation therein and to gain greater efficiency in operation," and Mr. Atkinson was described as "a true sympathizer with the charitable efforts of the community and one fully capable of carrying on this work of getting the cooperation of the public, rich and poor alike, and a man in whom everyone can have confidence that the funds will be properly administered."

"These resolutions," it was concluded, "are not intended to minimize the best efforts of Atlanta in the past, but to assure all of our people that a complete restudy has been made of Atlanta's charity and welfare program, and that it has not been set up in the light of general experience and of our own experience through four years of chest operation in an efficient manner so as to give the public full and fair information which should result in the necessary funds being raised, and in a manner to organize and spend the money raised to the best possible advantage for the poor and deserving."

The annual appeal of the Community Chest for public support of the 38 organizations which operate through it will be made the week of November 18.

GATHER HERE TODAY

Changing fashions in home construction which call into play a wider use of their products than ever before will be one of the topics for discussion at the meeting here today of the Southern Clay Products association.

Leading brick and hollow tile manufacturers in Georgia, Alabama, Florida and South Carolina will be in attendance.

"It was only a few years ago," commented W. E. Dunwoody, of Macon, president of the association, "that brick was regarded as a 'staple' building material, durable and safe to use but more adaptable to commercial buildings than dwellings. Today, through ingenious methods of manufacture, brick has become the fashionable material to lend color to the exterior of the home. The average home-builder, when he considers brick, is generally amazed at the wide range of delicate and attractive colors available, and the many artistic rough textures."

Other officers of the association here for the meeting are C. W. Dixon, of Greenville, vice president; J. L. Hankinson, Augusta, vice president; J. E. Minter, Columbus, treasurer; W. G. Lasseter, Macon, secretary.

L. W. Abbott, of New York, general superintendent of installation for the Western Electric company, in charge of the eastern zone, is in Atlanta attending a conference of the southeastern division, it was learned Thursday from D. W. Reid, division superintendent with headquarters in Atlanta.

Besides Mr. Abbott and Mr. Reid, executives of the Western Electric company participating in the conference include W. E. Elrod, district superintendent of Atlanta, and E. J. Withrow, district superintendent of Nashville, five superintending foremen of the southeast and members of the staff headquarters in Atlanta.

Discussion in the conference is being centered on administrative and personnel problems of the southeastern division, it was stated.

Hundreds of textbooks submitted to the state board of education for consideration are being reviewed by Dr. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of schools, in preparation for the board meeting on October 30 when the publishers' bids will be opened.

Dr. Duggan said Thursday that although some of the forms of textbooks have been in use for 15 years, that does not necessarily mean that they will be changed. Every five years the board considers changes in books.

Dr. Duggan said that the majority of his time at present is occupied in interviewing representatives of book publishers.

Miss Hazel Jones, recent winner of The Constitution-Howard personality contest, continues to entertain patrons of the Ritz night club with songs and dances. This talented little entertainer has set a mark of popularity at the Ritz which bids fair to endure for some time to come. She is to present a special series of attractions at the club Saturday night.

Other dancers and vocal artists will supplement the interesting program.

Large crowds have attended the Ritz during the past few weeks, and with the approach of cool weather and with the football season in full swing, it is predicted by officials that capacity crowds will flock to Atlanta's only night club.

Billy Snell, master of ceremonies, is proving interesting with his popular song hits. The Ritz harmony boys have received several additions to their orchestra, which is now furnishing the best dance music ever offered by the club.

PREBYTERIAN PLAN FUND DRIVE TONIGHT

First Church To Raise $150,000 for Sunday School Building.

In the interest of a campaign for $150,000 to be used for the erection of a Sunday school building for the First Presbyterian church, the congregation will hold a get-together meeting in the church at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The active drive is to open next week and it will be conducted with a view to raising, in a short time, funds necessary for the building. The new structure is to be built immediately adjoining the church and will be a thoroughly modern structure, particularly suited to the needs for which it is to be designed.

D. B. Donahoe will preside. The Rev. J. S. Lyons, pastor, will deliver an address and there will be a number of talks by representatives of various groups.

Frank M. Jaman, general chairman for the drive, will speak briefly on the methods to be used in the drive. Judge Edgar Watkins will speak as a representative of the church officers and H. Lane Young will talk for the deacons. Mrs. Stephen Barnett will speak as a representative of the women of the congregation and the will be represented by George White. The Sunday school's view of the matter will be given by Paul Fleming. Dr. Lyons' address will be featured by stereopticon slides of the proposed new building and a general explanation of the physical nature of the building and the needs it will fulfill.

SENORITA ESPINEL TO GIVE CONCERT AT EMORY TONIGHT

Senorita Luisa Espinel, Spanish dancer, will appear at the Emory university auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight. The concert, which is the first of a series given by the Emory Student Lecture association, was to have been presented a week ago, but the singer was detained by illness.

Spanish folk songs and dances will be offered by the senorita. Costumes ranging from the regalia of the Spanish royalty to the native dress of the natives will be worn by the singer.

Senorita Espinel is making a tour of the United States, and is being presented at a number of American colleges. Her dances and songs are excellently illustrative of the native Spain, according to critics.

THREE ATLANTA STUDENTS JOIN EMORY SOCIETIES

Three Atlantas were honored by two organizations at Emory university at their first meetings of the year, it was announced Thursday.

Scabard and Blade, national honorary military societies, elected James Jacobs and Wilbur Glenn, both of Atlanta, to membership. Frank Sibley, member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, also was elected.

The third Atlanta, R. S. Burrows, was named president or archon of the Emory Greek guild at its first meeting. The guild is a society composed of students studying Greek at Emory. Burrows is a member of the junior class.

UPPER CLASSMEN AT EMORY PREPARE HAZING FOR "RATS"

Emory university's annual "fresh" day has been set for November 6, the day of the national presidential election. This is the day when the first year men become "rats" and figuratively wish they were never born.

FEDERAL BANK SYSTEM IS PRAISED BY BLACK

Retail Merchants Hear History of Evolution of Currency in America.

High tribute to the federal reserve system as the ultimate in safeguarding credit and rendering currency stable, sound and flexible was paid by Eugene R. Black, governor of the Sixth District Federal Reserve bank, located in Atlanta, at a meeting of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association Thursday night at the chamber of commerce.

The federal reserve, through its concentration of gold, has made it forever impossible for this country to go through another money panic," he stated. "It has afforded southern credit sources for southern business concerns and has removed discriminatory discount rates, Atlanta's rate being on a parity with other sections of the country."

"It has changed the financing of the south's cotton crop from London, Paris, Berlin, New York and Orleans to the south. It is doing its full share in the amazing development of commerce, industry and agriculture in this favored section of the nation."

Mr. Black's address was in the nature of a history of the evolution of currency in America, particularly as it relates to credit of merchants. A large number of association members, assembled for the regular fall membership meeting, heard the speaker.

C. V. Hohenstein, executive secretary, rendered his annual report, showing that the association now has a membership of 500. Presidents of the various trade line groups of the association made their reports, indicating increasing membership and importance.

Fulton County Absent Voters Ballot by Mail

For the first time in history, absent Fulton county voters are taking enough interest in the presidential election to cast their ballots by mail. J. C. Harrison, secretary to the board of registrars, revealed Thursday.

Several hundred absent voters' ballots already have been received at the registrar's office in the courthouse, and will be sent to the precinct of the absent voter on election day. Mr. Harrison said. Under the Georgia law the absent voter must apply for a ballot between 30 and 60 days before the election. Mr. Harrison said, and a great number took advantage of the opportunity to vote this year.

"The absent voters from this county are all over the country. Mr. Harrison said. "We have received ballots from New York, San Francisco, and many intermediate points."

Inasmuch as the time for the ballot by mail expired on October 6, Mr. Harrison believes that he now has received all them.

"This is just another way of showing the vast interest in the coming election," he said. "Heretofore the absent voters were not interested enough to bother about calling for and mailing a ballot, but this year it is vastly different."

Help for Unemployed Is Urged in Appeal By Local Volunteers

In launching a campaign for funds to carry on their work, the Volunteers of America called attention Thursday to distressing conditions in some quarters, part of which are due to unemployment in certain lines. Those conditions, it was stated, will become more acute with the arrival of cold weather.

In issuing an appeal for help for these unfortunates, the Volunteers issued the following statement: "Are you aware of the fact that in our city there are children helpless and alone, widowed mothers with small children to feed and clothe, aged people with no one to care for them, who are ill? In most cases these are people who have not had a fighting chance. For many years the Volunteers have cared for the poor and helpless. Now we place the heart and machinery of this organization at your disposal."

The gift of a $10,000 increase to the $15,000 Lewis H. H. Browner, of Augusta, newly-elected president of Georgia Federation of Women's clubs, presided. Mr. Beck well-known Atlanta philanthropist, and retired capitalist, added $10,000 to his previous gift of $15,000 to the scholarship fund at Tallulah, through which has been made possible the education of underprivileged children living in the mountain district of north Georgia. He appeared before the executive board in person, asking the privilege of increasing the fund, and of becoming interested in the school, and maintained by Georgia Federation of Women's clubs, and of his confidence in the ability of Georgia Federation women at the helm of the school. He appointed a board of trustees including Messrs. Howard McCall, Samuel M. Inman, and John E. ## BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

WHY JIMMY SKUNK WASN'T CAUGHT.

BY THOMAS W. BURGESS.

Pray always keep yourself quite fit in body and in brain and wit.

—Jimmy Skunk.

When the man who had set the traps for Jimmy Skunk went down to look at them the next day he discovered at once that one trap was sprung as he had left them. "That's of the man's footsteps dying away. Then he sighed. "It's no use," said Jimmy to himself, "for me to think of setting out this way. Always keep an opening I can get out. I don't like digging, but it looks to me as if I shall have to dig this time. It's a good thing I can dig. If I can dig I would be in a peck of trouble."

He went back to the other end of the barn. He went along the edge until he found a place where the earth was fairly soft. There he began to dig. He was going to dig down under the foundation. He didn't hurry about it. You know Jimmy seldom hurries. There was nothing to hurry for. So he just took his time about it. He dug a while. When he rested a while. Then he dug a while longer; then he rested a while. It wasn't very much of a job after all. Sooner than he had dared hope would be the case, he was under the under-pinning. Then he began to dig up. Presently he poked his head right outside. Jimmy drew a long breath. Then he shook himself and combed the dirt out of his coat and made himself neat, for Jimmy Skunk is a very neat fellow.

What do you think Jimmy did then? He deliberately walked around to the end of the barn where the hole was. He wanted to see those traps from the outside. You see, Jimmy has just as much curiosity as any one else. But he took great care not to go too near them. At first he couldn't see them, for they had been sprinkled with dust.

Never an Iron on My Hair

Wherever my theatrical engagements happen to take me I could have a marcel, but I never do. I prefer my own method—waving my hair with my hands.

Wave and Sheen. I dampen the hair with it—insert combs in the direction I wish the waves to fall and forget it for about an hour.

Some types of hair require more time, some less.

The result is a soft, lovely, undulating wave. Most people in my audiences think I have it marcelled. Many ask whether it is a natural wave. It is not.

You can have this same sheen no matter what method you use for waving your hair. Get a bottle at any toilet counter for 75 cents. One trial will convince you as it has thousands of others.—(adv.)

A short business session will be held at 3 o'clock Friday before the tea.

K. of C. Auxiliary To Honor Players.

An informal reception, vaudeville and dance honoring the Notre Dame football players will be given by the Knights of the Knights of Columbus in the Catholic clubhouse, 1200 Peachtree street, Friday. A bevy of attractive young women will form an automobile committee for the occasion.

Miss Nell Sullivan and Miss Frieda Sullivan, popular Atlanta entertainers, will furnish the vaudeville, accompanied by Mrs. Bill Murphy, talented pianist.

It looked as if there were no traps there. But Jimmy knew better. There were some small stones lying about. Jimmy turned and with his hind feet he kicked some of these stones toward the place where he thought the traps were. At first nothing happened. Then a fairly good-sized stone rolled right onto the pan of one of those traps. Two wicked jaws leaped into the air and came together with a snap. It was so sudden that, although he had expected it, Jimmy Skunk jumped. Then he turned and ambled away.

"There is nothing like being among friends," thought Jimmy.

Georgia and Furman Clash Today; Irish Arrive This Morning

Red and Black In For Tough Battle Today

Furman Will Shoot Works at Georgians in Attempt To Down Fighting Bulldogs.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

With the Yale game just a sort of nightmarish something that came to pass on a murky Saturday afternoon a week ago and about one-half of an eye on Tulane next week, to be followed by other hard games, Georgia's Bulldogs comes charging out of his kennel again this afternoon to play the Purple Hurricane of Furman on Sanford field.

Furman has never been regarded by Georgia in a complacent sort of way and this day will be no exception. There was a time, just two years ago, you'll remember, when Mr. William Laval brought his tricky bunch over and ran off with a victory over Georgia, which made the Furman lads all "ga-ga." That hasn't been forgotten, and it was avenged in a sort last year.

Must Stay on Toes.

And with the let-down that is bound to follow such a game as was played last Saturday with the northern Bulldogs, the Georgians will have to play a sort of up-and-at-em game this afternoon or Furman is liable to upset all previous plans.

It's a big shot for Furman and being the under-dog it has everything to win and nothing to lose. So naturally the Greenville boys will attempt everything in their repertoire to bring in a victory which we wouldn't think they could gain.

Georgia is bound to show some improvement because of happenings which took place last Saturday. It developed that the line didn't block at times as it should. And it developed that end play wasn't all that it should be. And it developed that several other things were slightly off. So Mehre has busied himself with those problems this week, and as the young man has a way of solving things like that Georgia should look much better this afternoon.

According to reports coming out of Athens the entire squad is in a physical condition that is little short of terrific.

WONDER COACH

Homer Norton, head coach at Centenary college, is leading the Gentlemen to great heights in football. Last year, his team won from strong teams in the Southwestern conference and the S. I. A. A.

V.P.I. Squad Off To Play Tarheels

Blacksburg, Va., October 18.—(AP) With the cheers of a victory-hungry corps of cadets ringing in their ears, 25 members of the Virginia Polytechnic institute football squad left here this afternoon for Chapel Hill, where Saturday they will meet the University of North Carolina Tarheel eleven. The troupe was aboard two buses and will stop tonight at Rocky Mount, N. C., from which place it will proceed tomorrow to Chapel Hill, expecting to arrive there in time for a final workout before darkness falls.

The Tarheel battle—the first on the V. P. I. conference list, marks the renewal of an ancient southern classic after a lapse of a decade. It promises to be a battle of two offensive machines, and if this be true, the game should produce plenty of action.

Light Drill Jackets' Dose On Thursday

Alex Taking No Chances With Men in Practice for Notre Dame Game.

BY HERB CLARK.

A muddy field, but one which will be in good shape on top, is the outlook for the fracas at Grant field Saturday, when the Yellow Jackets will make their seventh bid for the scalp of Knute Rockne and his squad of Irishers from Notre Dame.

Coach Alexander, the master mind of the Tech outfit, and the man who faces the real task of out-generaling the far-famed "Little Napoleon of the Gridiron," was unwilling to take a chance on injuring any of his men at this stage of the season, and prescribed a dose of signal drill and dummy scrimmage for his charges.

In order to keep the soggy field in condition for the scrap, which is to be staged on it tomorrow, Thursday workout, which was a light one, took place around the edges of the lot. A signal drill led off the program and brought the men behind the stands for a lesson in some new plays.

After the new maneuvers had been thoroughly gone over, the Jackets made their way out on the field, the first and second teams picking up a Grey Devil lineup and stepping off to one side with them, while the third squad grabbed another of Firpo Martin's outfits as the opposition and the golden-jerseyed lads proceeded to tear off a few plays with the Devils with some success.

The hard work of the practice period for the Jacket-Irish battle is over. Both squads will take light workouts at the Plais today, plenty of rest to-night, and then! The use of the word "battle" is advisable, since Tech has its best chance in long years to take the big Green team into camp. Both outfits realize this, and the game will not be won until Saturday night. The affair is a toss-up if the term has ever been correctly applied.

Sure Thing.

Harry Wisotzky, young golfer of York, Fla., won the first invitation tournament at the Rolling Road Golf club, near Baltimore.

Mind Reading.

AT MOST times and places the ability to divine the thoughts in another's mind would prove a dull pastime and perhaps most embarrassing. There are times, however, when such a telepathic quality would be amusing as well as instructive.

Standing alongside the practice field at Georgia Tech Thursday we watched the faces of these gentlemen in golden jerseys who face the terrible Irish Saturday at Grant field. We watched and wondered just what they were all thinking about that game.

Remembering the six lean years during which Tech has failed to beat the Irish even once and remembering the strange tradition that "Tech is best when the team takes the field" we wondered what these lads were thinking about this tradition.

Laying no claim to telepathic accomplishments we still claim to have detected a decided thought or conviction in the mind of every man. The Jackets are not boasting about their ability to beat Notre Dame but every single man knows that Tech has just as good a team and that just as good a team can always beat another if the determination is there.

Three other years we have watched this team preparing for a Notre Dame game. Each year if someone were to ask a Jacket about the Notre Dame game he would get this reply, "Well, they'll know they've been in a football game when they get through with us." And the Irish always knew that too but the fact still remains that the lad might just as well have said, "We're beaten but we'll give them a fight just the same."

This year it's different. The squad acts very much like it did before the Georgia game last year. There's a serious air hanging over the flats and each man's mind is set on one objective. If one of these players were questioned about the Notre Dame game this year and said exactly what he is thinking the answer would be short but potent, "Wait and see." The members of the 1928 Tornado are coming to realize that the pupils of the wonder team from South Bend are just as human as the rest of them.

There is no reason for Tech to lack confidence this year. Look back over the short season thus far. Notre Dame has played three games. In the opener the Irish managed to beat the New Orleans Loyola gang by a small margin just through sheer weight of numbers. They then lost by a decisive score to the Badgers of Wisconsin. Last week they managed to beat the middies, who had lost to two ordinarily weak teams, by a score of 7-0.

In the first start of the season Tech beat V. M. I.—certainly nearly as strong a team as Loyola—by two touchdowns and but for fumbles would have made it four or five touchdowns. They then went to Tulane and took the Greenies into the fold by two touchdowns.

Perhaps many people do not realize the strength of this Green Wave as it was when Tech invaded New Orleans. Judge by this comparison. Alabama has an admittedly strong team. Two weeks ago Tulane beat the Mississippi Aggies by a score of 51-6. Last week Alabama beat the battered Aggies by a score of 46-0. Doesn't this indicate something of Tech's strength?

Man for man, Tech has just as good a team as Notre Dame this year and the boys are beginning to realize this fact. Just as soon as they fully realize it the battle will be half won.

FORT POLOISTS TIGER SQUAD SEEK REVENGE ARRIVE TODAY OVER GUARDS FOR TILT HERE

With the award of a trophy still in the balance the polo game at Fort Mac next Sunday at 3 o'clock, between the Post and Horse Guard teams, promises to be a thriller. The closeness of the three games played this fall attests the keenness of all the players. Fort Mac has won one game and the Horse Guards two, the latter team having a lead of two goals. If the Guards maintain their lead in goals made, the statuette trophy made by Carl Vretman, of Atlanta, will become the cherished prize of the Governor's Horse Guard team.

The Fort Mac team, however, feels confident of overcoming the present lead in the next game and is determined to secure the coveted trophy for permanent possession at the fort. Some mystery is afoot in this respect and it appears that a shift in the lineup is expected to do the trick. The growing popularity of this sport was again in evidence last Sunday with the largest crowd in the history of Atlanta present to watch the game.

The game this Sunday will be the last between the two local teams until after Fort Benning's invasion next week. Made up of field artillery, cavalry and infantry officers, Fort Benning will mount two teams against the two local stars on each of two days.

Two Oglethorpe teams are to meet the Fort Mac and Horse Guard teams at the fort in November on exact dates to be determined later, and arrangements for man play with Savannah and Fort Screven teams are also under way.

Piedmont Eleven Hooper Arranges Off for 2 Games 3 Good Fights

Demorest, Ga., October 18.—The Piedmont first eleven and ten substitutes left Thursday for Lakeland, Fla., accompanied by Head Coach Harry Forester, where on Saturday the Piedmonters will play Southern college.

The team is then going to Kissimmee for a week of intensive training prior to a tussle with Rollins college at Winter Park on the following Saturday.

The two Florida games look as if they are going to be a couple of terrific battles, and the Piedmont men are preparing to strain every point in order to add another victory to their list, it being unbroken with the exception of one game.

The men making the trip are as follows: Center, Captain Tinsley; guards, Rickman, Welch, T. Gill and Clark; tackles, McKay, Crawford, O'Hear and Gillespie; ends, Sharp, H. Chambers and Worley; backs, Sutton, R. Gill, L. Chambers, Browning, Thorburn, Penn, Walker and Forester.

Publicity.

The nephew of the original Terry McGovern, also Terry McGovern, is getting his name in the papers again.

Wednesday Mat Program Is Complete

Three Bouts Arranged for Second Show of Season.

According to John Contos, no earthly reason now exists for Atlanta fans failing to get their money's worth and much more next Wednesday night in the auditorium, when he sets his delectable dish of rasslin' before them.

His main bout, between the gigantic Jim Browning and the powerful marquet, Richard Davis, is entirely satisfactory. Contos went to work and arranged another sterling attraction in placing together Pete Sauer, the former Masked Marvel, and Alan Eustace, who, according to no less a personage than Jack Curley, is the outstanding matman of the New York district just now.

Sauer and Eustace will grapple for one hour. Since it marks the first appearance of Sauer here in some time and the debut of Eustace, this match alone should prove highly colorful and much better than the average as a drawing card.

A third bout is arranged between Archie Holton, of Macon, and George Miller. They are 145-pounders and their antics will open up the show.

That completes the card. Contos plans to give away several prizes and also the lucky numbers again that entitles holders to chances on the beautiful feather fan.

Western Heights Wants Games

Western Heights girls' and boys' basketball clubs want to schedule out-of-town games for Saturday nights. Any teams wanting games are requested to get in touch with Captain Roy Strain at the Gulf Refining company.

DIRECTS DUKE

Sam Bule, one of the craftiest quarterbacks in Dixie football, will direct the Blue Devils when they oppose Bill Ingram's Navy eleven Saturday.

Jockeys Warned To Observe Rules

New York, October 18.—(AP)—The stewards of the Jockey club have served notice that they expect the rules concerning the jockeys to be obeyed. Four of the leading riders on New York tracks, Laverne Fator, Frank Colletti, Tony Pascuma and Frank Catrone, were called before the stewards last night to explain charges of violating a rule on betting. No action was taken but the boys were warned to observe the rule closely.

50 Rocknemen Will Invade Grant Field

Notre Dame Warriors Will Go Through Workout Today for Game Saturday.

BY DICK HAWKINS.

The great Irish, bearing what they believe to be a jinx of fear against Georgia Tech, arrive in the Gate City of the South this morning determined to use a blue-clad battering ram on the gate.

At the head of the invaders comes Knute Rockne, master mind of the gridiron, bringing a "small squad" of 50 men to the fray. With him comes the great Niemiec, the equally great Captain Smith, Moynihan, star center, and 47 other gentlemen who have been working under the tutelage of the master mind for many weeks.

Will Work Out Today.

The Irishmen will work out at the flats some time today, but whether this morning or this afternoon is still problematical. Coach Rockne, in a communication to Coach Alexander, expressed a desire to see the Georgia-Furman encounter this afternoon at Athens and if he decides to attend the game his team will probably work out this morning. If he decides not to go to the Classic City of the South they will limber up train-cramped muscles this afternoon.

While the Irishmen are on their way southward, the Jackets at Tech are not idle. They are working literally day and night to perfect a defense against the Notre Dame shift and against the new edition of the Four Horsemen. There is no doubt that the present Notre Dame team is not like the great gang that had the famous Four Horsemen in the back.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office

AT 11:15 A. M., COMMODORE DEWEY, HAVING ASSURED HIMSELF THAT HIS SQUADRON HAD PLINY OF SHELLS LEFT, AND HAVING ALLOWED HIS CREWS A BRIEF REST, AGAIN APPROACHED CAVITE TO COMPLETE THE WORK OF DESTRUCTION.

The Story of Our War With Spain.
The Battle of Manila Bay (Concluded).

AT 12:30 THE LAST SPANISH FORT SIGNALLED, "WE SURRENDER". BY THIS TIME THE ENTIRE SPANISH FLEET, CONSISTING OF EIGHT WARSHIPS AND SEVERAL TENDERS, HAD BEEN DESTROYED. 321 SPANISH SOLDIERS AND SAILORS HAD BEEN KILLED, AND MORE THAN 700, INCLUDING ADMIRAL MONTEJO, WOUNDED.

DURING AND AFTER THE BATTLE, THE PORTS AROUND MANILA HAD FIRED ON OUR WARSHIPS. WHILE THE FIGHT RAGED, DEWEY PAID NO ATTENTION TO MANILA, BUT HE NOW NOTIFIED THE SPANISH CAPTAIN-GENERAL THAT IF THE FIRING WERE NOT STOPPED, HE WOULD SHELL THE CITY. THE WARNING WAS HEEDED.

WHEN THE SPANIARDS REFUSED TO PERMIT DEWEY TO USE THE SUBMARINE CABLE TO COMMUNICATE WITH OUR GOVERNMENT, HE PROMPTLY CUT IT, AND SENT HIS REPORTS BY HIS DISPATCH BOAT TO HONG KONG, WHENCE THEY WERE CABLED TO THE UNITED STATES.

TOMORROW—DEWEY HOLDS MANILA BAY.
